RANKIN PENSION PUT ON SHELF

... House, By 1-Vote Margin, Sends Vets Benefit Bill Back To Committee

An Expanded Social Security Program Handed Congress

"Stamp Book" Tax Paying System Devised To Bring 20 Million New Workers Under Old Age Insurance If Lawmakers Approve

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A new "stamp-book" taxpaying system was suggested today by the administration to help make possible a vast expansion of social security.

The stamp system is designed principally for farm workers and household help who would be among the 20,000,000 new workers blanketed under old age insurance if congress approves the expansion.

Arthur J. Altmeyer, social security commissioner, projected the tax plan as he laid before the house ways and means committee the details of President Truman's program to:

1. Increase the coverage of old age and survivors insurance from 30,000,000 to 50,000,000 workers. 2. Boost the insurance benefits by about double. 3. Create a new insurance program for disabled workers. 4. Reduce the "pension age" for women from 65 to 60.

Strong Resistance.

Stiff resistance already has formed against Mr. Truman's proposal to increase the security tax take from the present $1,800,000,000 a year to around $5,000,000,000.

As part of the battle to prevent "destitution," Altmeyer said, the insurance program should be expanded to include 6,000,000 farm operators; 7,700,000 urban self-employed (lawyers, doctors, businessmen, etc.); 3,000,000 domestic or household workers, and 4,700,000 hired farm workers.

And while the president had some rough things to say about pollsters after last November's election, Altmeyer today quoted from a Gallup poll to show that most farmers want social security insurance.

Skipped Over 12 Years Ago.

The categories of employed persons he listed were skipped when the social security act first was passed 12 years ago because of administrative difficulties, particularly in the collection of the tax.

Altmeyer said this problem has been licked, largely by the idea of a stamp book system. He explained it this way:

"Under such a system each employe would receive a stamp book in which stamps would be placed by his employer to evidence contributions made by the employer and the worker.

"In rural areas the employer could purchase these stamps from the mail carrier, and in urban areas they could be purchased at post offices. A stamp plan could be used also by small industrial and commercial establishments which found it more convenient.

"For regular workers on large scale farms, where pay records are already kept, the system of reporting now used in industry might be most convenient.

"For the rest—that is, for the workers on small farms and the temporary help employed during rush seasons—it might be more convenenient to use a stamp plan."

A survey of house ways and means committeemen indicated today that this group is ready to reject flatly the president's plan to extend direct federal financial aid or "home relief" to all needy persons including the unemployed. Such relief now is limited to the needy aged, the blind and to dependent children.

Voters Have Until Friday To Register For April Primary

Election Commissioner Ray Frohn announced today that his office will be open until 9 p. m. tonight and 9 p. m. Friday night to accept changes in registration and new registration.

Deadline for registration for the April 5 primary election is 9 p. m. Friday. Deadline for filing as a candidate for city office will be 4:30 p. m. Saturday.

Idle Miners Ordered Back To Work Monday

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—John L. Lewis today ordered his 463,000 idle coal miners to return to work Monday.

An executive order to district officers said:

"The present memorial period will terminate Monday, March 28. Production may then be resumed in all mines and all members should make themselves available for work on that date."

The order was directed to miners east of the Mississippi who have been idle since March 14 in a work stoppage Lewis said was meant as a memorial to dead and injured workers. Lewis said it also would protest appointment of Dr. James Boyd as head of the U. S. bureau of mines.

The mine closings have cost the diggers some $30,000,000 in wages. During the mine shutdown, coal-carrying railroads laid off more than 70,000 employes.

DETECTIVES QUESTION NEWLYWEDS—Mr. and Mrs. Milton Babich, wed six days, denied any knowledge of how the bride's sister, Patricia Birmingham, 16, of West Allis, Wis., came to her death, as they were questioned at Minneapolis by Larry Papke, left, and Edward Mazurkiewicz, Milwaukee detectives who are returning them to the Wisconsin city. Patricia's body, two bullet holes in the head, was recovered Sunday from the Milwaukee river. (AP Wirephoto Thursday.)

'THAT KILLS IT,' SPONSOR SAYS

... Members Sit Tensely Silent As Roll Call Taken

WASHINGTON—(AP)—By a one vote margin, the house today shelved the Rankin veterans pension bill.

A roll call vote of 208 to 207 sent the measure back to the veterans committee for further study.

It is possible for the veterans' committee to write a new bill and send it back to the house at a later date.

But Chairman Rankin (D-Miss) told the house the vote to recommit meant that the bill is dead.

"That kills this legislation for this congress," Rankin said.

Rankin's bill already had been so amended that it bore little resemblance to his original proposal for $90 a month pensions at age 65 to all World war I and World war II veterans.

Series of Maneuvers.

The vote to throw it back to committee climaxed a series of maneuvers on the floor.

Rep. Teague (R-Tex) made the motion to send it back.

The roll call vote was first announced as 209 to 208 against the motion.

But on a recount, it developed that the tabulators had erred on the first count.

McCormack Asks Recount.

There were no vote switches on the recapitulation.

Rep. McCormack (D-Mass), presiding in the absence from the city of Speaker Rayburn, ordered the recount on his own initiative.

The house sat in tense silence as the names of each member and the way they voted were called out by clerks. It was so quiet the automatic counter used by the clerks could be heard clicking.

It was the closest vote on a major bill in the house since late in 1941 when, by a one vote margin, a bill to continue the draft law was passed.

Two non-record votes preceded the roll calls.

Passed on Teller Vote.

Teague first moved to strike out the bill's enacting clause—ordinarily a motion that kills a bill if it carries. That lost 169 to 158 on a standing count.

Then Teague got a teller vote on the same motion. It carried then, 171 to 168.

Teague's motion to send the bill back to committee followed, bringing the roll call and the recount of the vote first announced on it.

When McCormack announced the result of the recount a few members applauded.

Rankin's Face Flushed.

Rankin, his face flushing, slowly gathered up his papers without challenging the result.

For the Mississippian, it was a galling defeat. A change of two votes would have made passage of his bill virtually certain on a direct vote on the bill.

When all the checking and rechecking was over, the roll call showed that 151 democrats and 57 republicans teamed up to send the bill back to the committee.

Against that move were an even 100 democrats, 106 republicans and the one American-laborite.

As originally called up, Rankin's bill provided for a pension of $90 a month to all World war I and II veterans at age 65, regardless of financial need.

Third Day Of Debate.

As it came back before the house for its third day of debate, it looked something like a combined pension-bonus bill.

Before adjourning, the house tentatively accepted an amendment by Rep. Jacobs (D-Ind) knocking out the $90 pension figure and substituting what amounted to a deferred bonus proposal.

The Jacobs plan provides that all veterans would be paid a flat $10 a month at age 65, plus an additional $1 a month for each month of war service and another $3 a month for each month spent in an overseas theater of combat.

The house also adopted an amendment by Rep. Rogers (D-Fla) establishing a financial need yardstick. Pensions would be barred to veterans whose income is over $2,000 a year if unmarried, or $3,000 if married or with dependents.

$60 Proposal Rejected.

It first rejected an omnibus substitute for the ranking bill offered by Rep. Huber (D-Ohio) and then turned down an amendment by Rep. Kearney (R-NY) to limit pensions to World war I servicemen.

Also voted down was another amendment by Rep. Camp (D-Ga) to cut pensions to $60 a month, and a proposal by Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa) which would have established compensation benefits for disabilities incurred out of the service.

The house on Tuesday voted off the record to kill the entire bill, but it suddenly reversed its field when the members answered to their names for the record.

NEBRASKANS SPLIT, 3 TO 1

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Nebraska congressmen split 3-1 today when the house voted 208 to 207 to shelve the veterans pension bill. Republicans Curtis, Stefan and Miller voted with the majority and O'Sullivan, the lone democrat, voted against the move.

Trio Draw Sentences In Robbery

Of Elderly Ashland Woman

(Special to The Star)

WAHOO, Neb. — The three youths pleading guilty to the robbery of an elderly Ashland widow were sentenced to prison and reformatory terms today.

District Judge H. Emerson Kokjer ordered six-year penitentiary terms for John W. Stewart, 21, Ashland, and Marvin Holbert, 21, Lincoln. Gerald Hanson, 16, also of Lincoln, was sentenced to from three to five years in the men's reformatory.

The trio were charged in connection with the robbery earlier this month of Mrs. Lena Miller, 85, who lives five miles west of Ashland. About $6,000 was obtained in the robbery, according to the complaints filed against the three.

Parole Violation.

Stewart was also given a one-year sentence after pleading guilty to violation of his parole. The two sentences will run concurrently, the judge said.

County Attorney Myrl D. Edstrom said three girls who had been held as material witnesses in the robbery have been released. They were Mrs. Shirley Hanson, 20, Ruby Ray, 18, and Mary Ann Holz, 18, all of Lincoln.

Eloping Couple Cast No Light On Slaying Of Bride's Sister

MINNEAPOLIS —(AP)— An eloping young couple, seized by police after an intensive four-day search, told authorities they can offer no help in solving the mysterious slaying of Patricia Birmingham.

The couple, Patricia's sister, Kathleen, 17, and Milton Babich, 19, today waived extradition to Milwaukee.

The bullet-pierced and weighted body of Patricia was recovered from the Milwaukee river near her home in West Allis, Wis., last Sunday. Police have established no motive for the slaying of Patricia, who had been missing from her home since last Feb. 10. Last Friday Kathleen and Babich disappeared from their homes. They told police that they were married in Kalamazoo, Mich., last Friday.

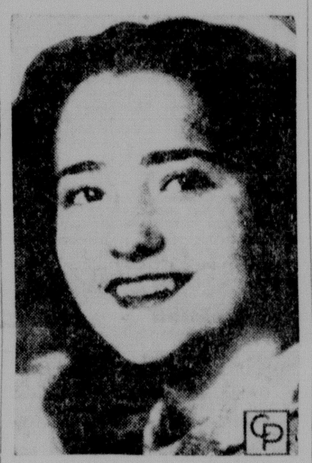

Babich was hunted by police throughout the midwest on a warrant charging him with contributing to the delinquency of a minor —Kathleen.

Babich and Kathleen were seized by police yesterday in a rooming house where they had rented light housekeeping quarters on Tuesday.

After they heard of the finding of Patricia's body Sunday, they told police they did not attempt to comfort Kathleen's bereaved parents because she had misrepresented her age in applying for a marriage license. She will not be 18 until March 31. Kathleen did not want to return home because she feared her parents would attempt to annul her marriage.

Babich expected to get a job and stay here. But he had put $1300 in savings into a bank at Kalamazoo. Yesterday he sought to transfer the money to a bank here.

Police found out about it and were waiting at the couple's room.

Rent Control Bill Goes To Conference

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The house refused today to accept senate amendments to its bill continuing rent controls. The decision will send the measure to a senate-house conference committee to work out a compromise.

Rent controls will expire a week from today, unless a compromise can be reached and the bill put on President Truman's desk at that time.

Neither senate nor house bill makes rent controls as strong or continues them as long as President Truman asked.

But democratic leaders on Capitol Hill described as a "pretty good job" the amended bill approved by the senate last night, 68 to 10. They didn't like a provision allowing "home rule" decontrol at any time.

Bill Hiking School Levy Is Advanced

No Opposition To Measure Adding Mill Levy In City

The legislature Thursday advanced on general file LB 400 which permits the Lincoln school board to increase the levy to 21 mills for one year and another mill in any future year when it is found necessary.

Sen. Victor Anderson said he explained at the hearing that he had not received a single protest to the bill. "This remark was printed in the newspapers, and I am happy to report now that I still have not received a single protest," he said.

Other bills advanced included:

LB 409 and 410, which permit rural, town and smaller city schools to levy unlimited taxes until 1951. The ceiling was taken off two years ago.

Another school bill advanced was LB 469, under which aliens may teach in Nebraska schools if they get a certificate from the state superintendent. But they could teach under this arrangement only as long as it takes to obtain citizenship papers.

Also advanced: LB 472, requiring lights on railroad motor cars; LB 309, permitting use of business records as evidence in court.

LB 119, relating to surplus of state banks.

LB 268, increasing bond of motor fuel dealers.

LB 310, authorizing board of regents to fix fee for testing tractors.

LB 499, gives county board regulatory power on taverns outside of cities.

Sidney Gets 8-Inch Snow

Heavy Rain Sends Randolph Creeks Up

While eastern Nebraska was enjoying mild, but very windy weather Thursday, the western part of the state reported snow.

Up to noon today, Sidney's snowfall measured eight inches and it continued to fall. Other western points receiving snow this afternoon were North Platte, Hays Center and Scottsbluff.

A little farther east there was a light drizzle. In the extreme east skies were clear and the sun was shining.

Meanwhile, the Kansas City weather bureau issued a special warning for western, northern and central Nebraska. Moderate to heavy wet snow, accompanied by strong west-northwesterly winds of 40-50 miles per hour, are forecast for those areas this afternoon, ending in the southwest early tonight. Snow will accumulate to from five to seven inches with temperatures in the lower 30s, lowest in middle 20s by morning.

Showers, colder weather and strong shifting winds are forecast for Lincoln tonight. Friday is expected to be clearing and colder.

The river situation continued to improve in most of Nebraska, although a heavy rain last night sent small creeks in the Randolph area to overflowing stages. Randolph received 1.13 inches of rain yesterday.

Northfork Bankful.

The Northfork river in the Hadar vicinity was running bankful today and the Elkhorn river was slowly rising in the Norfolk area. However, no serious flooding is expected according to Harold Alexander, meteorologist at the Norfolk weather station.

Logan creek, which runs north of Wayne toward Wakefield, is expected to be bankful, but no trouble is anticipated.

All flood gates were opened yesterday at the Norfolk dam, dropping the Northfork to two small "creeks" in the river bed above the dam.

Platte Drops.

The Platte fell another fourtenths of a foot at Ashland and on the main stem of the Missouri slight variations were noted from Bismarck downstream. The biggest drop was at Nebraska City where there was a fall of 1.3 feet to a stage of 12.5 feet today. The level rose a similar amount at Decatur to a stage of 9.8 feet, but at Blair the river was down .7 of a foot to 11.8 feet and at Omaha it was also down.

Precipitation for the past 24 hours was reported at several points. Sidney reported .87 of an inch, Lincoln .04, Chadron .06, Grand Island .05, Norfolk .11, North Platte .10, Omaha .02, Scottsbluff .20 and Valentine .10.

A high temperature of 69 degrees was reported at Hays Center yesterday and a low of 30 degrees at Sidney.

Rankin Pension Bill Is Defeated

Senators Apply Axe To Omaha Merit System Measure

Two of the so-called "controversial" bills came before the legislature Thursday and were speedily killed. Nine others were advanced on general file.

Repeal of the death penalty was indefinitely postponed by a vote of 26 to 13 with 4 not voting.

A merit system for Douglas county employes was also killed by a vote of 19 to 14 with 10 not voting.

The death penalty bill had been killed in committee and raised by vote of the legislature. Sen. Bohlke in his motion to indefinitely postpone explained that he had been told the reason the bill was raised was because Sen. Hugh Carson, the introducer, was a darn good fellow.

Condemned Has Chance.

"I concur in the opinion of the legislature and would also include Mrs. Carson among good fellows," Bohlke said. "But this is serious legislation and should not be decided on respect personally for either Sen. Carson or senators who oppose him."

The Hastings senator said that the pardon board is the best possible defense against a person being unjustly executed.

"The condemned person has hundreds of chances to vindicate himself that his victim did not have," Bohlke said.

Sen. Arthur Carmody in opposing killing the bill said he had been unable to find where an execution had ever prevented a murder. He said most persons executed were those with insufficient capital to hire the best defense attorneys.

Heated Debate.

Sen. Otto Prohs, admitting prejudice because of a murder within the family in Illinois, said the life imprisonment there has no one to oppose granting of clemency but the family.

In his remarks Sen. Prohs said he realized that Sen. Carmody had a "warm spot in his heart for murderers." This brought a prompt response from the Trenton senator who said anyone making such an accusation was "deliberately falsifying." Sen Prohs promptly apologized.

Sen. Cramer pointed out that the state permits sale of liquor. "We license the thing that makes murderers out of men," he said. "Should we then take their life for using the instrument we put in their hands?"

Fifth Commandment.

Sen Carson called attention that retribution and revenge were the only arguments against the bill and no broadminded arguments had been offered. He submitted his bill with the injunction to remember the fifth commandment which was unqualified.

Sen. Bohlke said there was no demand for the bill and that he had not received a single letter either in support or opposition.

The vote on the motion to indefinitely postpone LB 213 was:

Hanna Leads Fight Against Merit Plan

The motion to kill the bill, enabling Douglas to have a merit system of hiring county employes in the discretion of the board or by vote of the people, was made by Sen. Don Hanna of Cherry county. Provisions were strictly local to Omaha.

"I don't know why the Cherry county senator should wish to dictate to Douglas county unless it is purely vindictive," Sen. Charles Tvrdik exclaimed. "Does he think this legislature has some God given wisdom that future legisla-

Seward Child Flown To Rochester; Loses Sight In Right Eye

(Special to The Star)

SEWARD, Neb.—Relatives here today anxiously awaited word of the condition of John Cattle, jr., five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cattle, sr.

The youngster and his parents were flown to Rochester, Minn., yesterday to consult medical authorities after a physician here discovered the child had suddenly lost the sight in his right eye. Labor Bill Is Approved By House Group

...Without Changing Line

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The house labor committee approved the administration's labor bill today without changing a line.

The 13-10 vote came after only 15 minutes of discussion. Rep. Lucas (D-Tex) joined the committee's nine republicon members in opposing the measure.

The bill would repeal the Taft-Hartley law and restore the old Wagner labor act with some changes. An identical bill is awaiting senate action.

He served as guard at the jail from December 1944, until June 1947.

Taxi Business Drop Told At Rate Hearing

Public hearings on the request of three Lincoln cab companies for authority to increase rates opened before a state railway commission examiner Thursday.

Most of the session Thursday morning was taken up by the testimony and questioning of W. J. Seidl, secretary of the Checker Cab service and a cab driver and owner.

Stating that operating costs of cab companies have increased considerably since the war, Seidl said that at the same time business for cabs has decreased nearly 25 per cent, and is back to near the pre-war state.

Gas, Oil Increase.

Citing examples of increased cost, Seidl said the cost of oil has increased 15 cents a quart and gasoline 10 to 11 cents a gallon since the war. Meanwhile, the cab rates have not been changed since 1938, he said.

The increases asked by the three companies, Yellow Cab company, Checker Cab service, and the Black and White Cab company, are a rate of 25 cents for the first half mile instead of the first mile, and the same five cents for each additional quarter mile an increase from 20 to 30 cents for each mile of country driving an additional 25 cents for each passenger over three on one trip, and an increase from 25 to 50 cents for handling baggage.

Seidl estimated that the increases would raise the take for each individual cab about $1 or $1.50 per day.

A. A. Whitworth, deputy city attorney, represented the Lincoln city council at the hearing as an observer.

Griswold To Address Local Union Members

A Lenten Season Prayer

FRUITS BORN OF THE SPIRIT

... By their fruits ye shall know them . . . Matthew 7:16. Read chap. 9:35—10:1.

It is vastly important to know that we are not saved by good works, but that those who are saved produce good works. To know this difference is to come to the center of Christianity. The just shall live by faith and not by works. All our efforts to do well apart from faith in the gift of God are doomed to failure. The world will not be remade by improvement societies.

But faith without works is dead; by our fruits we are known. When we receive the gift of grace through faith, our lives are changed ethically and morally. And serving our fellow men, we find increased fellowship with Christ.

The fruits born of the spirit are love, joy, peace; patience toward others, kindness, benevolence; good faith, meekness, self-restraint. The disciples were sent out to cast out devils, heal diseases, cleanse lepers, restore the dead. Were our faith greater, we, in fellowship with Christ, would drive the swine of greed, lust, and strife from every area of modern living.

Let Us Pray: Grant us, our Lord, a renewed sense of vocation, that all that we may do may be done to the honor and glory of thyself. In gratitude toward Thee may we minister to those who are weaker than we. May we feed the hungry, visit the prisoners, clothe the naked in the Master's name, and share more fully in his fellowship of service to mankind. In his name we ask it. Amen.

State's Rights Basic Issue Glendo Dam

...Says Gov. Peterson

Governor Val Peterson declared Thursday that "the real issue in connection with the proposed Glendo dam is its effect upon existing water rights of Nebraska users."

"In my judgment it is the Bureau of Reclamation's job to make it crystal-clear that Nebraska users will not be injured," he said. "Further, this matter should be settled in conferences and not by forcing our people into a complicated, costly, protracted legal action."

An exploratory meeting to determine the effect of the proposed dam will be held in Scottsbluff on April 2.

Batson Will Discuss Dam In Minatare Speech

DENVER—(AP)—Avery Batson, regional director of the Reclamation Bureau, will discuss the proposed Glendo, Wyo., dam at Minatare, Neb., on Monday.

He will be the featured speaker at a meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the North Platte valley. "I will give a report explaining what the situation is (regarding Glendo) on Monday in Minatare," Batson said Thursday.

Governor Peterson of Nebraska and other interests in the state are opposed to increasing the size of the proposed Glendo reservoir. They claim a larger reservoir than is presently authorized would be derimental to Nebraska.

Meanwhile, a newspaper dispatch from Washington said Thursday Batson intends "to plug harder than ever for an enlarged Glendo dam" when he speaks at Minatare. The dispatch quoted from a speech it said Batson had prepared for the occasion. Copies of the speech have been sent by Batson to Gov. Peterson and to Nebraska members of congress.

No Action Teachers' Oath Law

Gustavson, Beutel Tell Committee Bill Not Necessary

BY ARCH DONOVAN

Should teachers in Nebraska schools and colleges be required to take the oath, "I do not advocate, nor am I a member of any political party or organization that advocates the overthrow of the government of the United States or of this state by force or violence?"

This question was tossed into the lap of the educational committee of the legislature Wednesday when it held hearings on LB 514 and 515 introduced by Sens. Williams, Hern and Ogden. After listening to arguments for two hours, the committee took it under advisement.

Held Unconstitutional.

Highlighting the hearing was the appearance of Warren Batterson, communist organizer for Nebraska-Iowa area, who opposed the bill, and a group of young democrats from the conservative wing of their party who supported the measure.

Dean I. K. Beutel of the law college of the university said he was "shocked" to learn that school instructors might be required to take oath as to their "political allegiance." He pointed out that it is un-American and would bar foreign exchange teachers from the state.

"The U. S. supreme court has recently held that the 'test oath' is unconstitutional," the dean told the committee. "I would not sign the political allegiance section if it cost me my position. This would not happen, however, because I am protected from the political test by the constitution.'

Teach Truth, Not Propaganda

He contended there was no necessity for the law, that there was no evidence of subversive teaching in the state.

"There is none in the university," he declared positively. "Colleges teach truth, not propaganda, and if instructors do not follow this procedure they would be ousted by the administration without new laws. Present laws are adequate."

Sen. Willard Wilson, his voice choked with emotion, led off the attack on the bill saying that he fully realized the implications that would be inherent in his stand. He termed communists, "filthy, rotten people," and said his past activities had his name on all of their blacklists.

"We are fooling ourselves. It just won't work," the Holdrege senator said. He pointed out that Stalin paved the way for his present power while in exile. Hitler, he recalled wrote "Mein Kampf" while in jail. From the underground of exile, he said, Mussolini moved into power.

Law Wouldn't Work.

"Three nations have tried this procedure," he continued, 'only to drive the subversives under cover. It just didn't work. England, in turn, kept Moesley and his followers in the open where they could be jailed when war came. Let us profit by history."

"With our present emotional instability, do not fix upon any individual the stigma of being a communist through the features of this bill which are sinister in character," pleaded Prof. John P. Senning, university professor of political science and member of the Lincoln school board.

Emotional Hysteria.

From his experience at the university since 1916, he told of emotional hysteria that brought charges at various times of instructors being I.W.W's, socialists, bolshevists and communists. Every situation was met by the school administration without resort to law or publicity. The method proposed will not meet the objective, he asserted.

Chancellor Lashes Bill.

Chancellor R. G. Gustavson, who had remained at the hearing after being a witness on an earlier measure, followed the testimony offered closely. Finally, apparently reluctantly but with his jaws squared for the occasion, he arose and faced the committee.

"I fully realize the danger of opposing a bill of this kind," he explained in low voice. "This bill will drive those you are trying to destroy underground. I have taken hundreds of oaths during my work on atomic energy, but was never asked to subscribe to one like this.

"I never did, do not now and never will subscribe to subversive doctrines. As for the university, our purpose is to guide students who start down the wrong path to back up and follow down the right trail. In mathematics if he works wrong and gets the wrong answer, we show him the proper formula."

The chancellor then quoted a former associate as saying, "Anyone who is not a radical before he is 21 has no heart, because he has no desire to remove the misery he sees around him; if he is a radical after 21, he has no head."

Dr. Archer Burnham, executive secretary of the Nebraska Teachers association, asked the committee to accept the views of Sen. Wilson as his own.

Batterson Appears.

But the opposition did not confine itself to the public education field. After the schoolmen had spoken, Warren Batterson of Omaha, who identified himself as state organizer for the Communist party arose.

As a World war II veteran he explained that he had fought Fascism. He then launched into a discussion of communism until halted by the committee. Taking his cue from Sen. Wilson's talk, he again enumerated countries where groups had been driven underground by laws directed at one group.

"Yes, and in Russia?" Sen. Wilson queried him. Batterson evaded but finally admitted it was true.

"You are aware that your presence here will probably encourage passage of this bill?" Wilson continued and Batterson admitted it probably was true.

"Knowing that, isn't it a fact the communists would like to see this bill passed?" Williams pressed for an answer. Batterson was evasive.

Sen. Thomas Adams sought to find out how many communists Batterson represented, but he refused to answer.

Supporters of the bill were largely members of the conservative wing of the Nebraska Young Democrats.

Mrs. Frank Sorrell, Syracuse, national committeewoman, told of the group's "struggle with so-called liberals." She said some were of the opinion it was just a red-herring, but that was not so. Most of the difficulty she said came from college students.

"I don't want my sons, when they go to college, to be exposed to such condition," she said. "If the teacher is a red-blooded American he will not be afraid to take the oath."

Taylor Tells Trouble.

Neal Niesback, Unadilla, who said he was a Democrat official but was speaking as a college student, told of students he knew who had joined subversive organizations on college campuses not knowing their purpose. He told of others who left for other colleges to continue communistic organization.

Vernon Taylor, St. Paul, chairman of the Young Democrats, said signing of the oath, "would bolster the opinion of teachers held by the public." He urged the committee to check with the F. B. I. to see if any state colleges are tabbed by them as leftist.

Taylor explained that the presence of the Young Democrats was because "we have had more to do with radicalism than any group in the state." He recalled the picketing of a Lincoln movie house showing at what was termed an anti-Russian picture.

Eugene Yanney, former Kearney Teachers college student, said 13 states are considering similar bills and that one has passed the Texas legislature. Frank Sorrell also spoke in favor of the bill.

From Omaha came a delegation of college students in opposition to the bill. Marcel Johnson, speaking as a representative of a minority race, called attention to the fact no enforcement is provided.

"Do you think students are so stupid, so simple, that they will follow teachings of instructors without question?" he inquired of the committee.

David Coffey, studying to become a teacher, told that in fighting Fascism he had learned ihow Hitler legislated and regulated by groups and that he wanted this country to remain a peoples government.

Harold Floodamier, student teacher, and Mrs. Helen Hester, a former teacher also spoke. "The purpose of this bill is to close the lips of any person who thinks progressively," Mrs. Hester said. "It was in the melting pot of many ideas from many countries that our constitution was framed."

Sen. Williams in closing the discussion said he was only luke warm in support of the bill when the hearing started, but after hearing the opposition, "I want to assure you that if the bill is killed in committee I will make a vigorous attempt to raise it."

"Don't you think some of them came in here knowing it would adversely affect the decesion on the bill?" Sen. Wilson asked.

"I am not answering any more questions," Sen. Williams snapped. "You would not let me question you."

Chairman Dwight Burney praised Batterson for frankly telling his affiliation and asked other communists to raise their hands. There were none. A request by Dean Beutel for a showing of hands of witnesses who were not communists was denied.

Foundation Of Peace Is Law, Hardin States

National Y Official Addresses Local Group

"Law is the foundation of peace and good will," Dr. Clara Hardin, economic education secretary of the national YWCA told a group of 60 persons Wednesday night at the Y.

Dr. Hardin stopped in Lincoln enroute to her home in New York City from San Francisco where she attended the national YWCA convention.

She stressed the need for universal laws citing the declaration of civil rights as the first big step in this direction. She added that the YWCA "is doing much to promote laws of this type."

"Not Far Enough."

Dr. Hardin said however that the United States has not gone far enough in promoting civil rights. "This big mistake is a crime for which the country stands condemned before the rest of the world," she said.

"We must guard against tyranny and anarchy in any form. We must guard our democratic process and choose our legislators judiciously," she asserted.

Benefits from greater uniformity in law were listed by the speaker who singled out divorce and kidnapping as two that can be improved.

In conclusion Dr. Hardin listed three reasons why the Y.W.C.A. is concerned with better social legislation:

1. To correct injustices.
2. To preserve and promote democracy in the United States and other countries.
3. To preserve the Christian concept of the brotherhood of man.

"Give Douglas county a chance to decide," he continued. "They know the problems and whether such a move is good or bad. It is only permissive and the people can hold the county board responsible."

Sen. Benesch likewise objected to the western senators trying to legislate for Douglas county. He explained that he never opposed the west on purely western problems. Sen. J. Adams, Omaha, however, spoke in favor of killing the bill.

Danger To City Water Supply Less

As Platte Returns To Old Channel

Danger to Lincoln's water supply appeared to be diminishing Thursday morning with flow from the Platte moving slowly back into the old channel.

The Burlington's general dispatch office reported water down four to five inches in the river's new channel cut when ice jammed the main channel.

The river was cutting a small channel west of the ice gorge which diverted water into the new channel east of the main one. Burlington officials think water eventually will move over into the old course when it cuts around the ice gorge.

City Engineer D. L. Erickson told The Star that Fred L. Blumer, chief plant engineer for city water and light, had reported flow was normal in the main channel Thursday morning. The new channel around the west end of the ice gorge allowed the river to run in its normal course. No water was entering the north end of the new channel Blumer reported and flooded land east of Linoma was draining normally.

Erickson said Wednesday the city would lose considerably over half its water from the Ashland wells if the Platte did cut a new channel to the east. The wells are recharged from the live stream, recent studies indicated.

Work on five new wells stopped recently when the fields were flooded. Present wells continued operation because their housings were built above highest flood stage.

GOP Founders Day Expected To Draw 500

Wherry, Butler Among Washington Delegation

A crowd of nearly 500 is expected to attend the annual Republican Founders Day banquet, scheduled for March 29, Joe Wishart, Lincoln, reported Thursday.

Judd Banquet Speaker.

Wishart said the advance sale of tickets for Founders Day indicates more than usual interest. Cangressman Walter Judd of Minnesota will be the speaker at the banquet.

The heavy ticket sale was attributed by Wishart to the fact that the celebration is being held later than usual this year and because the state republican central committee has scheduled a meeting for the previous day.

Republican headquarters said that nearly all 86 members of the central committee have indicated they will be present.

The committee meeting will be held at the Cornhusker hotel and Founders Day activities at the Lincoln.

Open To Public.

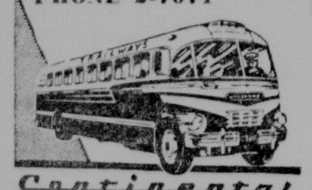

The morning session of the committee will be open to the public. A. T. Howard, Scottsbluff, chairman, has invited all party members to be present and make any suggestion with regard to GOP policies.

Wishart, who has just returned from Washington, said Nebraska's two U. S. senators, Kenneth Wherry and Hugh Butler, and three republican congressmen, Carl Curtis, Karl Stefan and A. L. Miller, expected to be here for the two days.

Mrs. Charles Kuhle, Lincoln, said ticket sales for the women's luncheon have been brisk, with between 260 and 300 expected to attend. That many will also attend the men's luncheon.

Mrs. Roy Priest, Utah's national committeewoman, and Mrs. Karl Mundt, wife of the South Dakota congressman, will address the women's luncheon. Republican members of the Washington delegation will be presented at the men's luncheon.

O'Sullivan Takes GOP Dig With Review Of Elephants

WASHINGTON—(AP)—That old poem about the six blind men of Indostan who went to see an elephant was used by Rep. Eugene D. O'Sullivan, Nebraska's lone democrat in congress, for a dig at the republican party. In a statement in the Congressional Record O'Sullivan first indulged in a tongue-in-cheek review of the elephant's place in history since Biblical days when, he said, "We have been either blessed or cursed with elephants."

He went on from there:

"The elephant is now, and was always I dare say, the enigma of all the known enigmas, politically or otherwise. He is enigmatism personified.

Quotes Poem.

"In order to convince you and in order that I may in passing lay some small claim to being smatteringly literary, and also in order to help throw light and not heat upon the various elephant problems of today, I wish to furnish you for mental browsings only, the following poem by John G. Saxe, entitled 'The Blind Men and the Elephant,' the original thought having been derived from a very old, old fable.

"They say that history ever repeats itself, and perhaps in Omaha, Neb., when the republican party met recently in solemn conclave on elephant business, who knows but that some of the lineal descendants of those same six wise men of Indostan were there in goodly force or perhaps it might have been a family reunion of the blood lines of those same six wise men from said old Indostan.

Recalls Omaha Meeting.

"I understand that at the Omaha convention, they, too, debated loud and long about how the little, big man of the strong adjectives and nouns fame, was not throwing the bull but was throwing elephants on last election day and thusly demonstrated to the world that Paul Revere could ride again x x x

"And that political gladiators have not been bred out entirely in the United States, as far as the democratic party is concerned because of the fact we have been living in a soft decadent republic on a supersoft national manna.

"But getting back to Omaha, that great city of the plains, where the reception which is given the president of the republic is numberless, yawning, gaunt empty seats, cometh the elephant and the best mahouts of the legions of wealth to discover all the rest of the numberless whys and wherefores concerning the smarting question of the hour, as to why the elephant comes so politically empty, too, back to the town of the empty seats, with such a vast horde—according to the versions of many — of politically empty heads."

District Funds Must Be Turned Over By County

County treasurers of Merrick, Buffalo and Hall counties have no right to withhold funds collected as taxes for the Mid-State Public Power and Irrigation district, the state attorney general ruled today.

The ruling was made in answer to a query by Donald H. Weaver, Hall county attorney. Weaver said the treasurers were holding the funds because of the action of the Union Pacific railroad in filing a notice for refund of taxes paid under the Mid-State levy. Weaver asked if the taxes could be paid to the district without liability of the county treasurers.

In the opinion written by Assistant Attorney General Walter E. Nolte, it was stated that "the county treasurer having in his possession taxes collected for the purposes of this district has the duty to pay them promptly to this district and that except for the retention of fees due his office for such collection . . . , he has no right to withhold the money."

"The statute expressly states that the application for refund should be directed to the treasurer of the district, after which suit may be brought by the party feeling itself aggrieved, in this case the Union Pacific railroad company," Nolte said.

He added that the fact that a litigation is pending against the district does not in any way affect the duty of the county treasurers to turn this money over to the district.

"The county treasurer has no interest in such funds," he stated. "Having been collected only pursuant to the district levy and assessment, they are in no way connected with or a part of the county funds of the respective counties."

State Offered Facilities For Unwed Mothers

. . . By Salvation Army

The legislature's budget committee delayed action Tuesday on a proposal made by Brig. Gen. Albert Baldwin, Salvation Army divisional director, that would enable the state to close the Milford home for unwed mothers.

He suggested that if the state does close the home a contract could be entered into permitting the state to make use of the army's facilities at Booth Memorial hospital in Omaha.

Gen. Baldwin said the Salvation Army can make 25 to 35 beds available to the state. Capacity at Milford is 35 beds.

During the past year he said the hospital had 135 cases at an average cost of $300 per case. Milford costs at an average of $500 per case, records show.

Last year at Milford the state cared for 185 cases. Com. Baldwin told of the rehabilitation work during the average three months stay in the hospital.

While admitting many problems would have to be worked out, the Salvation Army representative said he believed it feasible. The offer of co-operation, he said, was based on belief an opportunity existed for both service and a saving of state money.

Area Of Freedom

Over the last week-end the news columns told fully of the opening of the town of Oakridge, Tenn., to the American public. No city had a stranger birth. Oakridge is the child of atomic energy, and perhaps destiny.

Whenever the world regroups itself into a reasonable reassurance of stability and peace, we have been told that atomic energy will confer great blessings upon civilization, remaking it in its comforts and conveniences to a very large extent. But until last Saturday, Oakridge, the community of more than 20 thousand people, paved streets, attractive homes, a flourishing business section, a modern city built in the spirit of modern times, was a hidden city, hidden as securely as some of those fabled walled cities of antiquity, guarded by gates, and removed from the world itself. Ancient Babylon was one.

And on this point Senator McMahon, the chairman of the joint congressional committee on atomic energy, did not commit violence against words when he said that the opening of the town of Oakridge was a historic event. The area of freedom was being expanded. The fences which surrounded Oakridge, and restricted the comings and goings of people, were being torn down. Those fences did more than that. In their restrictions upon coming and going for hundreds of miles they imposed restrictions upon thought, upon speech, and upon action.

Perhaps, in a physical sense their removal was a little thing, commonplace, dull and insipid, but in the world of thought and speech it was a great day which a century hence may command infinitely more respect and awe than at the time it was happening.

Frank Phillips Retires

The Nebraska farm boy, who struck oil, Frank Phillips, and moved on and upwards to become head of the Phillips Petroleum company, has decided it is time to take it easy. In a letter to the president of his company he announced his desire to be relieved of the post of chairman of the board.

There is a generous dash of the Horatio Alger story in Frank Phillips' life. He was born in Greeley county in this state 75 years ago on a farm, with his family migrated to Creston, Iowa, in the grasshopper days of the 90's, earned his first money digging potatoes for a neighbor at 10 cents a day, became the proprietor of a barber shop, established a chain of shops, sold them and went to New England to work as a banker and bond salesman, finally moved to Oklahoma in 1905.

In 1917 he pooled his oil leases, with his brother, to launch the Phillips Petroleum company.

It grew into a 300-million-dollar industry.

The accumulation of money has not been the end of his interests. Mr. Phillips has been generous with his money. He has contributed to the Boy Scouts, the University of Oklahoma, a large number of Bartlesville civic projects, museums and other charitable institutions. Now, at 75, he says he's going to do a bit of loafing.

Uncle Sam Can Have Him

More than 250 mayors of American cities were in Washington in annual conference when the United States senate put through legislation extending rent controls, with certain modifications. The one feature of the senate bill which drew heaviest fire was a provision permitting cities and towns to junk rent controls with approval of the state government. A house bill, differing substantially from the senate measure, embodies this "home rule" provision in even broader terms, for it permits states, counties, cities, or smaller political subdivisions to abandon controls without a governor's approval.

The reaction this provision aroused was immediate, and slightly amusing in the light of so much present-day discussion.

If the mayors attending the Washington conference expressed the sentiments of those unable to be there, city government wants none of the responsibility of rent control. In vigorous language the Washington conference of mayors expressed opposition to the "home rule" provision of the senate bill, and presumably there is even stronger dislike for the house measure.

There, in undiluted essence, is the gentle art of buck passing, which has been responsible since the late '20s for the astounding growth of centralized government in Washington. Congress hands it (the matter of continuing rent controls) over to the local authorities of the different states. Without loss of time local authorities, the mayors in Washington, seek to hand it back.

The troublesome provision obviously undertakes to modify a broad general statute on rent controls, applying to every square foot of American soil, so that postwar developments in relieving the housing shortage shall be given full recognition. In many cities there has been an enterprising effort to take up the slack. At that point a familiar situation enters. With the abandonment of price controls in 1946, wage controls earlier, construction costs bounced skyward, and even the small home could not be built except at greatly increased costs.

There was then and there is now no easy solution of this. The homeseeker has his side, and the homeowner an equally punishing headache, and to strike a happy, acceptable, satisfactory balance between the two is no easy task—in fact it simply isn't in the cards. The family paying rent faces income limitation, and the man owning property has a right to expect a fair return on his investment.

Put the two together and the argument can go on endlessly.

It is an easy out in the individual states to shift the blame to Washington, and it's understandable that Washington, with a bear by the tail, would like to let loose. The senate bill provides for two increases in rents—one of 5 per cent effective Oct. 1, 1949; the second 5 per cent effective April 1, 1950—but where a tenant's rent is already 15 per cent over the June, 1947 level, no further increase is permissible or where rental has been increased 10 per cent only one increase at 5 per cent is allowed on Oct. 1 of 1949.

Home rule is a glittering gem until it becomes effective.

Retaining The Death Penalty

Sen. Hugh Carson of Ord can take it as a measure of the respect and esteem in which he is held by his colleagues that his bill to abolish the death penalty in Nebraska was revived and given its chance on the floor of the legislature, after the measure had been killed in committee. The bill met its death Thursday by a decisive vote. The death penalty remains for murder in this state. There is no prisoner at the Nebraska penitentiary at this time under death sentence. Actually the extreme penalty is rarely applied in Nebraska, and only in circumstances which judge and jury deem sufficient to warrant it. We have not any complete record of the instances where life imprisonment or shorter sentences are applied in preference to capital punishment but through the years the death penalty has been imposed sparingly. It may not prove a deterrent to violent crime but it is no encouragement to murder.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

A reader living at Table Rock, writes a letter to project a new highway view. "In this controversy over gas tax distribution why is it that our leading roadbuilding states—New York California, and many others—divide their gas tax on a statewide basis? Here in Nebraska where our entire economy is statewide and rests with agriculture . . . our tax money is divided on a county basis. Under our present system of tax distribution—all to the cities and nothing to the farms—we have lost so many young people from the farms in the last 30 years, the ratio of abandoned homes on dirt roads as to those on all-weather roads being 10 to one . . ."

★

Apparently there is a misconception in this letter. In California, for example, highway development is concentrated to a very large extent in the state. The report of the public roads administration dealing with programs nearer to home would seem to indicate that in Iowa, across the river, development is under a state highway commission, follows much the same line. In that report on Iowa it is said: "Funds received in the primary road fund from all state highway revenues in any one year in excess of 17 million dollars are credited to the farm-to-market road fund." In other words Iowa earmarks each 12 months, 17 million dollars for the state highway commission, and distributes anything above that amount to the farm-to-market road fund.

★

In Nebraska we have traveled the other route. There may be exceptions but we dobut that any state, especially any neighboring state withdraws as much from gasoline tax collections to be spent under county authority, presumably for the development of a county highway system, as Nebraska. If that system, which entrenched itself strongly in the beginning in highway development, is not building farm-to-market roads then the criticism should go back to the county instead of being lodged against Nebraska's state highway department.

Basically the criticism falls upon all of us in Nebraska. We have not given adequate thought, perhaps, to highways. And we never have sat down together deliberately to work out a long-range highway program until a year ago when a committee of Nebraska citizens, after months of research and hearings, drew up recommendations for a 20-year pattern of construction. In all the conflicting proposals that have been injected since then, where is it now? Actually the tendency in this state, one session after another, has been to chip away more and more funds from a state system to build county highways. Better success in New York and California is not to be attributed solely to one thing. Both states are old, densely populated, the amount of highway funds available in each is infinitely greater than it is in Nebraska, and when they have a highway problem in each state the approach is not to take from some and give to others, to reallocate or redistribute, but invariably to raise more revenues for highways. Here we devote our energies so that some will get more and others less, seemingly in the belief that we can develop a satisfactory network of roads—main arteries or primary highways, secondary roads, and farm-to-market roads by simply re-dividing an inadequate amount of money.

Out on the farm we trust there is no widespread notion that the gasoline tax funds collected in this state go to build roads in the cities. The reverse is true, especially in the larger communities. The property owner in the city pays for the paving in front of his home; in the downtown sections unless the highway itself is on a federal-state system not only the original cost but in a large sense maintenance is paid by the owner of the abutting business property. To say that all goes to the cities and nothing to the farms is absurd. The people of the cities pay automobile registration fees; they pay the gasoline taxes; they have no exemption for agricultural purposes; and they in truth contribute vast sums which are distributed back to the counties for the purpose of developing county road systems. The city property owner digs into his own pocket, pays for the paving in front of his home through special paving assessments.

It is a shortsighted view that ignores farm-to-market roads in the cities. It is a shortsighted view out on the farms which chooses to ignore the city road problem. The job is a big one, many-sided, not one-sided, involving vast sums of money, a clean-cut, crystallized plan, covering a long term program. When we raise our sights to see the value of working together we will have better roads.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—One of the neatest ways of reducing your income tax while simultaneously operating a powerful lobby has just been disclosed on Capitol Hill.

It is Foundation for Economic Education, run by some of the biggest corporations in the USA, and which has been flooding the country with propaganda aimed at undermining the Marshall plan, rent control, aid to education and social security.

The list of contributors has been kept a closely guarded secret. This column, however, has secured a copy and can reveal the fact that the backers of this lobby include General Motors, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Ford, General Electric, the Mellon National bank, Gulf Oil (also owned by the Mellon family), Republic Steel, the Du Ponts, Chrysler, Humble Oil, Inland Steel, Swift Packing company, U. S. Steel, Ernest T. Weir, Westinghouse, Monsanto Chemical, Libbey-Owens Ford, Sears Roebuck, Sun Oil, Texas Oil and various others.

PEARSON SAYS that Senate Majority Leader Scott Lucas (above) isn't at all happy over the way that Sen. Howard McGrath, the democratic national chairman, is giving out stories to the press. There are hints, Pearson says, on a showdown to determine who is the spokesman for the administration in the senate.

• • •

Because the foundation is supposedly for "education," these big corporations can deduct every cent of their contributions from income. Thus the $274,576.60 given to the foundation in the past eleven months costs the corporations only a fractional part of the dollar.

Chief aim of this high-powered lobby is to oppose any act of congress that raises living standards, if—it also lowers business profits.

Some time ago this column exposed the amazing fact that one congressman alone, Rep. Ralph Gwinn, New York republican, had mailed out 900,000 letters containing $2,250,000 copies of speeches—against public housing, rent control, aid to education, etc. Since the congressman had only 280,000 people in his district it seemed interesting to probe into why he was mailing 900,000 letters at a cost to the taxpayer of about $27,000.

• • •

Part of the answer proved to be the committee for constitutional government. This lobbying agency, directed by Dr. Edward A. Rumley—who served a jail sentence as a German agent during the first World war—has been promoting part of the Gwinn mail campaign. But part of his letter barrage was traced to a rambling mansion overlooking the Hudson river at Irvington, N. Y., called the Foundation for Economic Education.

This idea was started two years ago by Suave, 51-year-old Leonard Read, former western manager of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and general manager of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. The foundation now pays Read $25,000 a year and, though not registered as a lobbyist, Read has carried his "educational" activities to Capitol Hill where he has written speeches against the Marshall plan for isolationist congressmen.

• • •

One of the foundation's writers is Bertrand De Jouvenel, whom the New York Herald Tribune has called the Goebbels of France. That he was a pro-Hitler propagandist has also been confirmed by the French embassy. Yet he was selected by the so-called "educational foundation" to write about the evils of rent control. Furthermore, the Reader's Digest lent itself to this propaganda, by publishing his pamphlet—just as rent control came up for debate on Capitol Hill. De Jouvenel didn't even deal with rent control in the United States, but in France. Now he has been assigned by the Foundation to write another pamphlet on socialized medicine—in England.

Other samples of the foundation's propaganda are: "Why Kill the Goose?"—a plea to protect big business; "Can Dollars Save the World?"—an attack against the Marshall plan; "Liberty and Taxes," an argument against overtaxing the rich; "Planned Chaos," a sock at government planning.

The foundation also sharply denounces tax exemptions for co-ops, yet willingly accepts tax exemptions for itself.

To spread its propaganda, the foundation has built up a mailing list of 27,308. But more letters are sent out by friendly congressmen using free mailing privileges.

• • •

Among the top-flight business executives who run the foundation are David M. Goodrich, chairman of B. F. Goodrich Co., tire manufacturers; Thomas I. Parkinson, president of Equitable Life Assurance society; and Jasper Crane, Du Pont executive.

The more active trustees include: Charles White, president of Republic Steel corporation; Hughston McBain, president of Marshall Field; Whipple Jacobs, president of Phelps Dodge Copper products; A. C. Mattei, president of Honolulu Oil corporation; and B. E. Hutchinson, financial chairman of Chrysler Corp.

The Foundation's confidential records show that recent contributions have been received from the following: Nash-Kelvinator of Detroit, $2,500; Detroit Edison, $2,500; Republic Steel, $10,000; U. S. Gypsum of Chicago, $10,000; R. J. Reynolds of Winston-Salem, N. C., $1,000; Standard Oil company of Ohio, $1,000; former Senator A. W. Hawkes of New Jersey, ex-president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and vice-president of NAM, $1,000.

Because the senate was tied up over the filibuster, only one Irishman got away for St. Patrick's Day. He was Senator O'Mahoney, who kept a speaking engagement in Pittsburgh. Another Irishman, Senator O'Conor of Maryland, came to his rescue. O'Conor would have voted the opposite of O'Mahoney, but he canceled his vote so O'Mahoney could celebrate St. Patrick's Day . . . Senate Majority Leader Scott Lucas isn't at all happy over the way democratic Senator Howard McGrath, the democratic national chairman, is giving out stories to the press. Lucas threatened to have a showdown with the president, and demand just exactly who is the administration's spokesman in the senate—McGrath or him . . . Louisiana's Senator Russell Long, jubilant over the South's victory in the senate filibuster, has been telling friends that it "only took ten days for the South to change Senator Lucas from majority leader to minority leader."

NEGLECT

Time was she'd look about and say:
"The walls should papered be."
But, these are needs, with her away,
I never seem to see.
Now here's another spring to face
With much that should be done,
But why repair an empty place
Where all the dreams are spun?

I know she'd say: "We ought to paint.
The walls and floors are bare."
For time has left on them the taint
That proves the lack of care.
But there must be the will to do
The work from year to year,
And she who would the home renew
No longer can be here.

The spring is coming on again.
The need for paint I see.
But still I let the place remain
The way it used to be.
What matter now the stains of wear?
I blindly pass them by.
Since she's no longer here to care,
No longer care can I.

PUBLIC'S PROTECTION.

Milford, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: We students of watch repair feel that the article regarding the watchmakers bill (LB 248), published in a recent issue of The Lincoln Star, was very one-sided and unjust to the watchmakers of Nebraska. The majority of the opposition this bill has encountered has been voiced by jewelry merchants and not by the watchmakers and jewelers. It is an obligation to the public that every watchwaker and jeweler does the best possible repair job on every timepiece. We feel that LB 248 will be a step forward, an insurance for the public's protection.

BLIZZARD OF '49.

Fairbury, Neb.

I sit in the house at even', my tasks done for the day,
The cattle had all been cared for, stables bedded with hay.
It was just at dusk that the snow came, and the wind rose with a roar—
It pulled and rattled the windows, like a demon pounded the door.
The snows swept over the Great Plains, engulfed all within their path;
Devoured both people and livestock like a great, huge beast in a wrath.
Cold were the women and children in cars out there on the plain,
And heavy the hearts of the soldiers far from home in that moving train.
The days and the nights drew on while the snow piled higher and higher.
Far out there in the snowbound world were the folks in that westbound flyer;
Then like an angel from heaven the snow-plows and airplanes came,
Brought food to the people and livestock, cared for the injured and lame.
Governor Peterson flew to their aid like all good Americans do—
When in need of help or a friend, America always proves true.

AUDITORIUM SITE.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: A word to the people of the city of Lincoln on the auditorium. I would like to get more detail on the location of the auditorium. As a taxpayer, I think it should be built at Thirty-third and O, which is the center of the City. There we could have parking space and good bus service. At Fifteenth and N the parking space would be a problem. I suggest the city sell or lease the property and put it in the funds to develop Thirty-third and O. There are a lot of radio programs that travel over the country that would come to Lincoln if we had a place for them. If the Lincoln High school had some place for its home basketball games I think it could make a good payment every year on it. I have talked to a lot of people who are going to vote against it if built at Fifteenth and N.

LONG INDIFFERENT.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Social security has become a troublesome botfly to our social aristocrats who learned nothing from the last presidential election. Now that social security is here it is to be pounced upon by the trumpeters of private enterprise as something alarming and to be feared.

But private enterprise sat back for 75 years and did nothing to develop our natural resources. It never impounded one acre of water, built a transmission line girding the state or sought to conserve anything.

It sat back and folded its hands while the great West remained the pawn of powerful financial interests whose only song was "free enterprise." And during that time panics, depression, bankruptcy faced us; millions went hungry, and suicide became the last resort of crushed hopes and aspirations. Yes, our free and private enterprise system witnessed all these things. What a strange wish—wanting to go back to them! Yes, and that thing called "full production" had been going full tilt when the last holocaust struck us—the cribs were full of 10-cent corn and 27-cent wheat.

What private enterprise did was to arm great insurance companies with some startling facts, to wit: that only seven out of 100 American citizens had been able to lay up a competence for old age and their own security.

But these figures meant nothing to plutocratic thinking, meant nothing to him whose ideology carried into the future would still cling to an old Washington hand press. There was plenty of private initiative there—the men up and down Main street fared no better than the fellows on the other side of the tracks. Free enterprise had brought with it lost hope and despair. And then social welfare and other agencies were set up and men commenced to live again. Through social security men have learned they can provide for security in old age when their earning power is gone; therefore they are building such programs to fit their seeming need, willingly paying the tax to provide such security. It is their business. It is the business of government that such security is available.

OUT OF THE MUD

Table Rock, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In this controversy over gas tax distribution why is it that our leading road building states—New York, California and many others—divide their gas tax on a statewide basis? Here in Nebraska, where our entire economy is statewide and rests with agriculture, and where all of our growth throughout the years is due to that one industry, our tax money is divided on a county basis. Under our present system of tax distribution—all to the cities and nothing to the farms— we have lost so many young people from the farms in the last 30 years, the ratio of abandoned homes on dirt roads as to those on all-weather roads being 10 to one. Yet the farmer as a family unit pays more taxes of all kinds than anyone else in the state of Nebraska. According to the latest figures, Nebraska is one of the three most backward states in the entire U. S. A. in farm-to-market road building and electricity on the farms. We still have 60 thousand farm families living in the Civil war age. We are down to ninth place in agricultural income, practically at the bottom, but what really hurts is the 1948 corn yield—36 bushels per acre—six bushels below the national average, notwithstanding the fact we had one of the finest growing seasons on record, plus hybrid seed. At one time we had the richest natural soil of any state in the union; today he have thousands of farms in eastern Nebraska that are hardly worth farming. There is talk of bringing new industry to the state, which is fine, but why not do something about the industry we already have?

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—The most effective propaganda is to make use over and over again of a few words. Hitler knew that. So do the Russians who scream "imperialist warmonger" a thousand times a day.

Marquis Childs

So, too, do the propagandists in this country who incessantly attack the program of social reform on which President Truman campaigned last fall. The scare word they use is "socialized."

The attack is concentrated with particular fury on the proposed federal health insurance system. Certainly, that system proposes a radical innovation to raise present standards of health which are too low for a country with the wealth and the resources of the United States.

• • •

Whether it would actually raise those standards is, in my opinion, highly doubtful. My doubts of a federal health insurance system are chiefly in two points:

1.—The excessive cost of the bureaucratic apparatus necessary to administer such a system on a nation-wide basis. Allied to this is the question of medical standards under an act that would almost surely make concessions to administration by the separate states.

2—The net effect of a federal health insurance system might well be merely to spread even thinner the existing facilities for medical care. The problem is to increase facilities rather than to disperse what already exists.

• • •

But those who attack health insurance with the word "socialized" are even more vulnerable than the proponents of the system. They talk as though defeat of the federal proposal were an end in itself. Behind much of what they say is the implication that we can let well enough alone. That is the tone of many of the letters that have come to me in response to a previous column on this issue.

This is not, to be sure, the view of those who have looked at the facts with some objectivity. There are glaring weaknesses in health standards, in hospitalization and in medical care in this country.

One thing the federal proposal has done is to stir widespread discussion of health and medical care. In my opinion if it had done nothing else it would have been enormously worthwhile. Complacency and smugness cannot be tolerated if the American system is to meet the challenge of communism.

• • •

Two stimulating and provocative proposals have been put forward in place of the federal insurance system. One comes from Maj. Gen. Paul B. Magnuson, in charge of medical care in the veterans administration. Dr. Magnuson says:

"As a professional medical man, I am distressed to hear the emotional arguments used by those, on the one hand, who favor compulsory health insurance and by those, on the other hand, who blindly oppose every proposal to meet the problem of national medical care. It seems to me that the proponents of both extremes miss the point—the heart of the problem is the lack of diagnostic and public health facilities."

• • •

Dr. Magnuson proposes diagnostic clinics accessible to all the population, equipped with the most modern facilities for complete health examinations and staffed with the highest type medical and professional personnel available. Financial support would come from the federal government, state and local government, and private contributions.

The second proposal comes from Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, who agrees with Dr. Magnuson that one of the chief problems to be solved is protection for low and middle-income families who often find themselves ruined by a long illness. In a speech in Pittsburgh, Senator Taft advanced a four-point program calling for a wide range of federal assistance to raise standards of medical care.

• • •

Senator Taft gets at a basic weakness—the shortage of doctors—in his recommendation that the federal government subsidize medical students or medical schools, or both. To remedy the acute shortage in rural areas he suggests a federal subsidy to the states which would in turn underwrite medical care in poor districts.

In all this discussion is the base for concrete, constructive action that cannot be considered as violating American principles. The time for such action is overdue.

The danger is that the propagandists will so becloud and confuse the whole question as to produce stalemate and a futile sense that nothing can be done. That is the strategy of those who would block any social change whatsoever. In a democracy that is a dangerous strategy.

Teen-Agers Offered Two-Tube Radio Hat

NEW YORK — (AP) — Teenagers now can get music through their hats.

A Brooklyn specialty manufacturer has come up with a radio hat — a two-tube affair built into a headpiece resembling a pith helmet.

The tubes are set on the outside of the hat, resembling two horns, and a ring aerial is attached to the brim. An attached earphone covers one ear when the hat is placed on the head. Batteries are in a pocket pack.

The Merri-Lei corporation has brought them out in six or seven bright colors and says outdoor tests have brought in 10 or 11 New York area stations.

Chapter 4

The news of Professor Hubbard's death was received on the morning of Thursday, March sixteenth, with more polite attention than emotion.

Associate Professor Bray automatically became acting chairman and life went on. Classes were re-scheduled, seminars arranged, faculty committees planned, and academic procedure moved at its customary pace.

At nine o'clock that evening Dr. Dennis Rafferty, resident in Surgery, wandered around the hospital. He finally wandered into the hospital library and thought, it's probably a good chance to browse over some of the recent journals.

The library was deserted except for the young medical student who acted as evening librarian, and one other person. This was Norton, chief of the hospital. When Rafferty came in, Norton looked up from the book he was holding. Rafferty could see he was frowning. He went up to him.

"Thought you were giving a paper at the meeting in New York, Dr. Norton."

"Uh—yes. Yes, of course I'm going. But something's come up and I'm not leaving until midnight." Norton remained frowning and obviously preoccupied with his own thoughts as he answered Rafferty. Rafferty turned to go, but was stopped by Norton's, "Ah—uh, Raff?"

He turned expectantly.

"Raff, if you did a postmortem on a patient and found the symptoms to be marked cyanosis, lack of muscular tonus, moderate edema of the naso-pharyngeal passages, and complete engorgement of the right and left jugulars—what would your guess be as to the cause of death?"

"Well, sir, it certainly sounds like coronary occlusion, probably during sleep if there's no muscle tonus."

"Hmm—just as I had diagnosed it. And yet all that—I don't know."

Norton was lost in thought. Raff waited.

"Look, Raff, if you're not too busy now, would you mind coming down to the autopsy room for a few minutes? Take a look for yourself. I'd like to have your opinion then."

On the way down Norton explained to Raff:

"We're doing an autopsy on J. B. Hubbard, head of the Biology Department over at the university. He died in his sleep early this morning. I was called by his housekeeper at about 7 o'clock. He was dead all right, and at the time there was no question in my mind but that it was coronary occlusion."

"Isn't it unusual to be doing an autopsy when death is due to natural causes?" Raff asked.

"It certainly is," said Norton as they turned into the long corridor. "But that's one of those inane things. Mrs. Hubbard had been out of town—she got in on the ten o'clock plane this morning. Well, I got a phone call from her about three this afternoon. What she wanted was to arrange for an autopsy in accordance with Hubbard's expressed wish to have one performed after his death.

"It seems about ten years ago he had had a very advanced case of ulcers. His doctor warned him to give up all strenous activity or he'd shortly be beyond any help. Well, Hubbard went up to some fisherman's camp and lived with an old Indian guide for three months. The Indian mixed up some raw fish mash for him which he ate every day, and he drank lots of water. He came back feeling perfectly fit, or so Mrs. Hubbard says. Apparently he tried to get some doctors interested in this mash as a cure for ulcers. But of course they just laughed at him. I guess Hubbard thought an autopsy would prove he was right." Here Norton chuckled. "Just like a scientist to fool around with someone else's specialty."

They reached the autopsy room and the two of them donned smocks, rubber gloves, and masks. Raff bent over the body. Above his mask his eyes had a puzzled, concentrating look. He looked up at Norton.

"You say Hubbard was in the Biology Department?"

"Biology, that's right."

"Was he doing any experiments with phosgene?"

"Ha! I knew it. Phosgene!" Norton exclaimed. "The only thing that puzzled me was trying to figure out how he managed to come in contact with the stuff. Of course if they're doing any experiments with it over in Biology, he ought to have known how to handle the gas."

He removed his mask and gloves.

"Well, we're all through here, I guess. Let's wash up."

As they left the autopsy room, Norton remarked, "I wonder if there would be anyone over in the Biology Department now. I really ought to check up on this before I turn in the report." He looked at his watch. "It's not quite nine-thirty. I believe I'll call. I'd like to get the report completed before I leave."

"I could call them," Raff offered, "and meanwhile you can fill out the report. You haven't much time left if you're really going to make that midnight train."

"That's right; I don't have much time. That would be fine if you'd do that, Raff. I'll be up in Surgery, in my office."

Ten minutes later Raff came into Norton's room. He sat down on the edge of Norton's desk and shook his head sadly.

Norton smiled. "Don't tell me they don't have any tanks of phosgene in that department."

"Not only do they not have any, nor have they ever had any, but—get this, Chief—I talked with the acting head, a chap by the name of Bray—"

"Oh, yes," said Norton, "I know Bray."

"Well," continued Raff, "after I'd told him what we found at the autopsy, he said, quite distinctly, 'So he was murdered, after all.'"

Bridegroom Returns To Jail Cell After Marriage Ceremony

OMAHA — (AP) — Duane A. Donaldson, 20, had a different outlook on his six months jail sentence today—the outlook of a married man.

Donaldson was allowed out of the county jail yesterday just long enough to be married to Martha Jane Beedle, 18. District Judge William A. Day performed the ceremony and Deputy Sheriff Jim Smola served as best man.

After the ceremony—and a brief clinch with his bride outside the sheriff's office—Donaldson went back to serve the remaining five months and 27 days of his six months sentence for joyriding.

Judge 'Feels Fine' After Eating Cake Attorney Baked

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(AP)—Exhibit 'A' was the cake baked by the defense attorney in the disputed oven, and the judge who ate it said "I feel fine—no indigestion."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Finck sued a local furniture company for $198—the price of the stove which, said Mrs. Finck, "baked on the outside and not on the inside."

For the defense, Attorney Stanley J. Mosio asked Judge Royden S. Dane to move court temporarily to Mrs. Finck's kitchen. There Mosio turned out the cake. Judge Dane sampled it, thought things over and decided yesterday "it wasn't the best cake I've eaten, but—"

He ordered the furniture company to replace the oven door, repair the burners and make the stove satisfactory to Mrs. Finck.

Nebraskan Seeking Damages From Iowa; Snowbound Accident

DES MOINES—(AP)—A Nebraskan has asked damages from the state of Iowa for a window broken by an Iowa plow helping clear Nebraska roads during "operation snowbound."

Rep. Chris Hinrichs, chairman of the claims committee of the Iowa house of representatives, said he had sent the claim on to the Nebraska highway commission. It cost Iowa more than $9,000 to send the plows to Nebraska's aid last winter.

The claim, Hinrichs said, was that a piece of ice from an Iowa plow flew through the Nebraskan's window. The claim was for $7.80.

"I didn't figure we would insult the people of Nebraska by paying the claim," Hinrichs said.

He said he did not recall where the claim had come from in Nebraska.

French Fried Shrimp

French-fried shrimp, like they do it in sea food restaurants, is simple to make if the correct procedure is followed in the frying.

The right equipment is a necessity for deep fat frying. A straight-sided enameled sauce pot makes an excellent frying kettle. Enameledware heats quickly and evenly and its glass surface is easily cleaned when the frying is finished. A wire frying basket is a convenience for frying small foods, such as shrimp, because it makes it easier to lift the food from the hot fat.

A deep fat frying thermometer is the best way to be certain that the fat is just the right temperature. Fill the sauce pot about half full of fat. Attach the thermometer to the edge of the kettle and heat the fat slowly to the correct temperature. Drain fried foods on a tray covered with absorbent paper toweling.

Here are the directions for making French-fried shrimp.

French-Fried Shrimp.

Uncooked fresh shrimp are considered best for French-frying by many experts. However, fresh cooked or canned shrimp may be used. It takes about two pounds of fresh shrimp to serve six people. Shell the shrimp and remove the black vein which runs down the back.

Beat an egg and mix in one tablespoon of cold water. Dip the cleaned shrimp into the egg mixture and then roll in pancake mix (or fine dry bread crumbs). Put enough shrimp into the frying basket to cover the bottom. Fry one to two minutes or until golden brown in deep fat heated to 375° F. Drain on absorbent paper toweling. Sprinkle lightly with salt. Serve piping hot with tartar sauce.

Packard Signs New Airport Contract

HASTINGS, Neb.—(AP)—I. V. Packard, former state director of aeronautics, today had signed a new two-year contract as manager of the Hastings airport, with an option to extend the contract an additional two years.

The agreement on a contract followed a long dispute over terms to be incorporated in it. Acceptance of the contract clears the way for final civil aeronautics administration approval of a $150,000 runway at the airport.

Under the contract, the city will get one per cent of all gross sales at the airport, along with one-third of the profits from any crops grown on airport land. Packard will refund to the city all gas tax money rebated to him by the state but will be entitled to keep future gas tax refund money.

Prevention Program Is State Need

To Reduce Accidents, Safety Group Reports

A round-table discussion on employe accidents in construction work featured the meeting of the Industrial Safety committee of the Lincoln and Lancaster Safety council Wednesday night at the Y. M. C. A.

Led by W. J. Wells, a member of the committee on industrial safety, the discussion centered on how the number of industrial accidents in the construction field could be reduced. Wells said there were 3,742 accidents in this field during 1947-48 fiscal year in the state.

Stores Lead List.

"Construction accidents are fourth on the list of those exacting the greatest toll in industrial work," Gifford Mullins, director of Lincoln and Lancaster Safety Council, reported. He said retail stores lead the list.

Several contractors and construction foremen were present and each stressed the need for a prevention program in the coming year.

Mullins announced that a report on the president's council on industrial safety, which begins in Washington, D. C., today, will be made at a meeting of the council April 27. Roland P. Blake, principal safety engineer of the bureau of labor standards of the labor department, will be in Lincoln to make the report.

Blake's address will be sponsored jointly by the Safety council and the Lincoln chamber of commerce. The meeting will be held at the chamber.

To Address Engineers—F. B. Smith, Lincoln superintendent of the Western Electric company, will speak on "Machine Switching in Telephone Exchanges" at the Engineers club meeting Monday, March 28. The meeting is to be held at the YWCA at 6:15 p. m.

Levee Is Broken

Louisiana Area Flooded

BATON ROUGE, La. —(AP)— The Mississippi river broke through a levee today and sent residents fleeing from their homes.

The break occurred about 4:10 a. m. (CST) about three miles north of Port Allen, across the river from Baton Rouge.

Within three hours the water had moved three miles in from the river. Highway 190 was covered to a depth of three feet.

Sheriff's deputies and volunteers patrolled the roads, knocking on doors and urging residents to leave their houses. The Red Cross set up a reception center in Port Allen to care for refugees.

Sparsely Populated.

The break came as a complete surprise, as the river stage had not been considered dangerous.

Port Allen is a town of about 3,500. The area being flooded is occupied almost entirely by sugar plantations. It is sparsely populated.

Rate of the advance of the water was difficult to determine immediately. Sheriff's officers said nothing could be done to check the spread of the flood until it reached comparatively higher ground. At 7 a. m. the water was about 2½ miles from Port Allen.

Senators Pass Feed Labeling, 2 Health Bills

A feed labelling bill, two health measures and an insurance bill were passed by the legislature Thursday and sent to the governor for his signature.

The feed bill (LB 456) requires additional statements on labels of commercial feeds sold in Nebraska.

LB 373 provides that death certificates of persons in the armed forces who died outside the continental United States and who were Nebraska residents at time of induction may be filed with the state health department.

LB 332 requires pre-marital health examination reports to be made on forms approved by the state health department.

LB 172 provides that sales of reciprocal insurance shall be made only through licensed agents.

3. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until satiny; about 10 minutes. Round dough into ball; put in warm place until double in bulk (about 1 hour).
4. Punch down; cover and let rest 10 minutes. Shape into buns, place on greased baking sheet 1 inch apart. Flatten each bun slightly. Brush lightly with melted shortening, cover and let rise until double in bulk (about 45 minutes).
5. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400°F.) 20 to 25 minutes. While warm make a cross on each bun using a stiff Confectioners Sugar Icing. Makes 4 dozen buns.

Bill Increasing Compensation Aid Given C. C. Support

A bill before the state legislature to increase workmen's compensation disability benefits from $18 to a maximum $22 a week, has been endorsed by the chamber of commerce.

B. I. Noble, chairman of the chamber's industrial committee, said Thursday action was taken by the chamber on recommendation of his group after a thorough study of the measure.

In a letter to Sen. Karl E. Vogel, chairman of the legislative labor committee, Noble said that the "board of directors and the industrial committee believe the increases set forth in the bill are adequate and proper in view of the conditions as they exist today."

Attorney General Asks 'No Change' Guilty Verdict

... In Scottsbluff Case

Attorney General James Anderson asked the state Supreme court not to disturb the guilty verdict and sentence in the Scotts Bluff county case of Lloyd Morris Pauli, tried and convicted for alleged destruction of property in a church.

Pauli had appealed the conviction and sentence of 33 to 36 months in a reformatory. He was charged with breaking and destroying property valued at $2,000 in Our Lady of Guadalupe church, a small Mexican Catholic edifice in Scottsbluff.

In the state's brief Attorney General Anderson, who prosecuted the case while still the Scotts Bluff county attorney last summer, pointed out that Pauli was apprehended in the act, that the case was uncontested and that sentence was proper "in view of the vicious criminal attitude displayed by the defendant's acts."

'Sheriff's Jail Quarters Save County Money'

... Brehm Says

Lancaster county saves money by furnishing quarters in the jail for the sheriff, Commissioner Russell Brehm said today, commenting on an opinion of the attorney general.

The opinion held that counties could not compensate a sheriff for failure to provide quarters for him, since the law imposes no such duty on the county.

Sheriff Myles Holloway acts as jailor and Mrs. Holloway serves as matron and also cooks for the prisoners, Brehm pointed out.

Fee As Matron.

Mrs. Holloway, as matron, is paid $3 per day on days women prisoners or minors (16 or under) are inmates, Brehm said. He said one month recently her pay check as matron was $2.85.

If quarters were not furnished, Brehm explained, the county would have to hire three full-time matrons, in three shifts, to take her place. State law requires that a matron be present at the jail 24 hours a day.

Three members of the sheriff's staff, in eight-hour shifts, are kept on duty at the jail. H. W. Craig, a deputy, has the morning shift, the three night patrolmen alternate on the afternoon shift, and a radio operator is on duty at nights.

24-Hour Call.

"Since Sheriff Holloway lives at the jail, he is readily available 24 hours per day," Brehm said.

He pointed out it is common practice in the state for counties to furnish quarters at the jail for the sheriffs.

Deputy Attorney General C. S. Beck pointed out that where the sheriff is furnished with living quarters, it is because he lives there in the capacity of jailer.

Senator Person of Wahoo requested the ruling.

In another opinion, it was held that township officers may not borrow money to buy road equipment.

Seigel, a World war II marine veteran, was one of more than 20 applicants for the job. He was president of the York junior chamber of commerce last year.

The appointment was announced by W. C. Pflug, chamber president.

Scares Away Thief

Ronald W. Evans, 1925 E street, reported to police that shortly after midnight Wednesday night he frightened away a thief who was removing the chrome rims from his car. Evans said he saw the man from a second-floor window, and shouted at him. The thief then climbed into a parked car across the street and drove off. Evans said the thief got away with three chrome rims and two hubcaps.

How the Eckelkamps increased their income

In their financial planning for the future the Eckelkamps seek both security and income. Thus, their program provides for the regular purchase of stocks, as well as for home ownership, savings in cash and U. S. Savings Bonds, and adequate insurance.

They own the shares of three companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange—two common stocks and one preferred. These securities returned 5.9% in 1948 on their combined purchase price.

"Our dividend checks pay for many extra things," say the Eckelkamps, who do their investment business through a nearby Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange.

The experience of the Eckelkamps may be applied to many families in the middle tax brackets who are interested in how much income their surplus funds will buy.

In this city, as in more than 360 others across the country, Member Firms of the New York Stock Exchange are ready to serve you . . . with facts about securities and their yields, with prompt and efficient service.

Rent Bill Heads For Conferees

...Senate Approves Decontrol By "Home Rule"

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Democratic leaders today called the senate-approved bill to extend rent controls 12 to 15 months "a pretty good job." However, they didn't like a provision allowing "home rule" decontrol any time.

The senate passed the bill last night, 68 to 10. It permits some rent increases up to 10 per cent.

Senate action sent the bill back to the house, which already has approved a measure to continue rent controls 15 months beyond March 31 when the present rent law expires.

The house bill differs in several respects from the senate's so conferees from the two branches of congress have to work out a compromise before the legislation can go to the White House.

The senate-house conference group plans to get together tomorrow.

Twenty-three republicans joined 45 democrats in ramming the senate bill through. All the 10 votes against it were cast by republicans—Sens. Bricker (Ohio), Butler (Neb), Cordon (Ore), Ecton (Mont), Gurney (SD), Kem (Mo), Mundt (SD), Wherry (Neb), Williams (Del) and Young (ND).

Administration leaders succeeded in batting down most amendments they contended would cripple rent control. But they came out on the short end of a couple of counts, too.

In one case, the democrats deserted President Truman in large numbers. That was on an amendment by Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash) to continue rent controls two years as Mr. Truman asked.

That proposal was swamped, 75 to 10. Among others, Sen. Lucas (D-Ill), the majority leader, voted against it. So did 38 other democrats and 36 republicans. The 10 votes for the amendment were all by democrats.

Lucas Says "Pretty Good."

Lucas termed the bill the senate passed "a pretty good job, all except that local option provision." Sen. Myers (D-Pa), the deputy majority leader, told reporters he feels that way about it, too.

The section they dislike lets cities and towns junk rent controls at any time if the state governor approves. That went in Tuesday on an amendment by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark).

The house bill has an even broader "home rule" provision. Under it states, counties, cities or smaller political subdivisions could decontrol without the governor's okay.

The senate bill also allows states to remove controls whenever the legislature passed a law calling for that, and the governor approved. Individual states also could take over the control program if the governor certified that his state had an adequate rent law.

The senate measure provides for two 5 per cent rent increases, provided the cumulative boost did not push a tenant's rent more than 15 per cent over the level of June 30, 1947.

The first of the two 5 per cent hikes could be put into effect October 1, 1949. The second could be charged April 1, 1950.

In cases where a tenant's rent already is 15 per cent above the June, 1947, level, no further increase could be charged. In cases where his rent already has been raised 10 per cent, the level could be raised 5 per cent October 1—but no more April 1, 1950.

The house measure does not provide for any outright rent increases.

The senate bill extends federal rent controls a flat 12 months and offers tenants who want it an additional three months of protection. During the latter period, no tenant could be evicted simply for refusing to pay more rent. Hence, the effect is a 15-month extension for those who want it.

Dwellings which became vacant during the tag-end three months would be decontrolled automatically.

Senators Butler and Wherry, Nebraska republicans, voted with the 52-30 senate majority which knocked out criminal penalties for willful violations of rent ceilings.

On an amendment by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) and Cain (R-Wash) for a six-month extension of rent controls the two Nebraskans voted in the minority as the proposal was defeated 64-22.

Wherry and Butler voted with the majority as the senate defeated, 44 to 42 an amendment that would have limited federal powers on evictions. Sens. Bricker and Cain authored the amendment.

Hospital Construction Program Moves Ahead In Nebraska

Five Towns Are Seeking Federal Aid

$1,956,029 Total Cost Of Projects

Five Nebraska communities have contracted with the federal government for aid in construction and equipping hospitals under the hospital construction program, Dr. W. S. Petty, state health director reported Thursday.

The total cost will be $1,956,029 for the five projects. Of that amount, $286,149 is federal funds.

The projects are at Albion, total cost $165,000, including $55,000 federal funds; Oakland, $246,286 and $82,095; Hebron $94,753 and $14,057; Scottsbluff $1,302,542 and $85,847; and Chappell $147,447 and $49,149.

Funds For Equipment.

In the Hebron and Scottsbluff projects, the federal funds will be used exclusively for purchase of equipment. In the other three, federal funds are being used for construction as well.

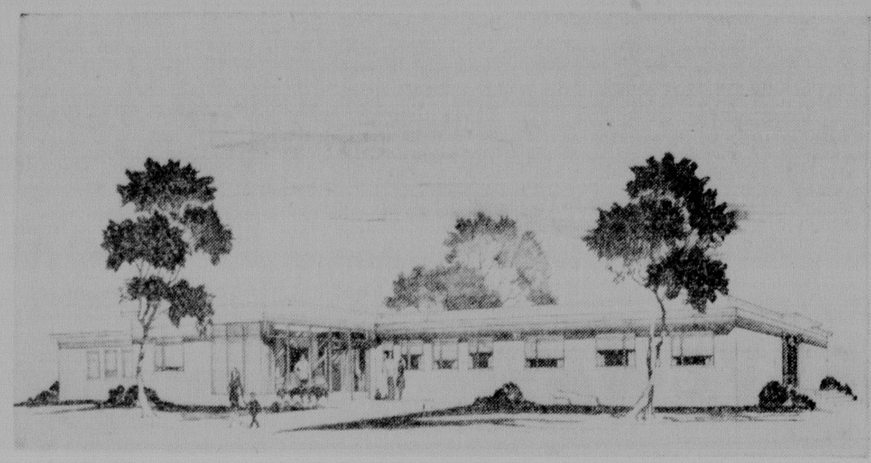

Three more communities have had their plans approved and have advertised for bids. They are Wakefield, with $52,443 federal funds earmarked; West Point, $223,175 in federal funds earmarked; and Kimball, $69,026 in federal funds.

370 New Beds.

Three more communities will have plans completed in the next 30 days, Dr. Petty reported.

The projects, estimated total cost and federal funds earmarked: Seward, $210,000 and $70,000; Crete, $200,000 and $66,666; and Rushville, $155,000 and $50,000.

Dr. Petty said these hospital projects will add 370 new beds in Nebraska communities having the greatest need for hospital facilities.

THIS MODERNISTIC 26-BED HOSPITAL HAS BEEN designed for use by Seward county residents. Estimated total cost of the structure, to be located in Seward, has been set at $210,000 with the federal government supplying $70,000. Russell M. Struthers, secretary of the Seward County Memorial hospital trustees, said bids will probably be let on construction of the hospital sometime in April. Through private donations, $110,000 of the $140,000 goal thus far has been raised, Struthers said. A complete air conditioning system together with an emergency light and power system are planned for the one story hospital.

State D.A.R. Meeting Is Nearing End

Delegates Hear Capt. Crutcher

HASTINGS, Neb. — Over 175 women are attending the 47th annual state convention of the Nebraska Daughters of the American Revolution which will end today.

Next year's convention site together with new officers will be selected later today.

Addressing the women at one of the early convention sessions was Capt. Chauncey R. Crutcher, commanding officer of the Hastings Naval Ammunition depot. Captain Crutcher asked for full privileges of citizenship for professional military men.

Assuring his audience that military men are not seeking dictatorial powers he objected to an amendment now before congress that a secretary of defense shall not have held a commission in the armed forces for 10 years prior to his appointment.

Contest Winners Honored.

Mrs. Edwin S. Lammers, Dallas, Tex., recording secretary-general and guest of honor at the convention, addressed the banquet meeting Wednesday night.

Winners of the girl homemaker dress contest were also presented awards at the banquet. Mrs. Harry C. Price, Beatrice, was chairman of the contest. The winners: junior division, first Omaha chapter, Omaha, Virginia Roach; second Jonathan Cass chapter, Weeping Water, Patsy Ann Mather, Nehawka; and senior division, first, Elija Grove chapter, Stromsburg, DeEtte Mentink; and second, Oregon Trail chapter, Hebron.

Delegates to the convention toured the Naval Ammunition depot Wednesday afternoon.

Mitchell Man Acquitted On Perjury Charge

GERING, Neb.—(AP) — Gilson James, Mitchell businessman, was acquitted by a District court jury yesterday in his trial on charges of perjury. The case was previously tried in February, but the jury reported on Feb. 25 that it was hopelessly deadlocked.

The perjury charges grew out of a civil suit last year in which James testified that a check was in the same condition as when he presented it. However, a photostatic copy made by Scottsbluff bank showed the check did not contain a "paid in full" notation when it passed through the bank, though it was on the check when James testified.

The verdict in the civil suit was set aside and a new trial ordered when the perjury charges were brought last summer. The civil suit will be heard next fall. Dist. Judge Henry Beal of Omaha presided over the perjury trial, as Dist. Judge C. G. Perry, who presided at the civil action, was a witness.

U.S. Warned Against A Fear Of War

Former A-Bomb Project Head Says Reds Won't Have Missile Till 1952

CHICAGO—(INS)—Americans were warned today against undue fear of another war by Lt. Gen. Leslie Groves, retired chief of the atomic bomb project.

However, Groves cautioned that the power of another country to develop the bomb should not be underestimated.

Groves, who spoke in Chicago before the National Association of Waste Material Dealers, said he believed Russia won't be able to produce an atomic bomb at least until 1952 and probably not until 1960.

He said that it was a falacy to believe Russia has the technical ability to produce an atom bomb and a mistake to think Russia is on a par with the United States in regard to the development of atomic fission.

Groves said:

Churchmen Are Warned Against Isms In World

Young People Must Be Given Guidance, Dr. Yost Declares

Seventh-day Adventist church leaders in session here were warned Wednesday night against the "confusion of isms pressing upon the world at the present time."

Dr. Frank H. Yost of Washington, D. C., who is an associate leader of the Religions Liberty association, declared that "communism, fascism, and socialism are all bidding for men's favor."

These political, economic and social isms, Dr. Yost told the group, have all proved themselves without regard to personal rights. "The result has been persecution for religious, racial and economic reasons," he added.

The Christian men, he pointed out, rejects this way of handling men because his faith is rooted in the Bible. "He believes that man is a soul, a potential son of God."

Leaders of youth must prepare young people for the condition the world faces, Dr. Yost said, "by helping them to gain a spiritual experience in personal relationship with God."

"Our task is not to get our young people involved in performances and records, but to help them to know themselves as sons and daughters of God, partners with the Lord," he concluded.

Establishing Youth Centers.

Establishment of youth centers, with supervised play and recreation, was featured in reports given late yesterday on various projects developing in the "share your faith" movement of the Adventist church young people.

Delegates told of missionary bands going out from church schools and academies, distributing literature and conducting home and community Bible studies.

One group of leaders reported an open air evangelistic program put on by church teen-agers that drew an audience of 3,000 people.

Ask Rate Increase

Danbury - Lebanon Telephone exchange, Danbury, asked the railway commission for a rate increase on all classes of service. The increase would range from 75 cents to one dollar. The company operates in southern Red Willow county.

Hurt In Fall At Jail

Pete Schaaf, 46, 1436 North Fourteenth, was treated at St. Elizabeth hospital Thursday morning for cuts received when he fell at the city jail early Wednesday evening.

Police reported Schaaf fell on the floor in one of the cells. He was taken to the hospital after the city doctor checked him and ordered stitches in a cut over his right eye, and X-rays.

TOMORROW'S ARTIST
Rueben Tam

Two oils shown at the exhibit, "Coastline and Stars," and "Dawn and Fallen Tree," are the work of Rueben Tam who now divides his time between New York and Maine. Tam was born in Hawaii in 1916, and is a graduate of its university. He studied painting at the California School of Fine Arts and at the New School for Social Research. He also was a teacher of art and English in the Hawaii high schools, and painting at the Brooklyn Museum. He was a Guggenheim Fellow in 1948, and his work is represented in numerous public and private collections. Tam's vocabulary is abstract—the painted and scratch line, and a close range of muted color—but his intention is the recording of what he calls the "Spirit of the Peace" by which he means he felt the mood of "coastal hills, headlands and the sea"—the kind of landscape in which he grew up and in which he lives today.

Alpha Omicron Pi Plans State Day

Arrangements have been completed for the state day celebration of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority this week-end.

The paramount feature of all of the activity will be the appearance of Mrs. Verne Willson McKinney of Los Angeles, national president of Alpha Omicron Pi, who arrives on Friday.

Mrs. McKinney will be the guest speaker at the sorority's annual banquet to be held in the Georgian room at Hotel Cornhusker on Saturday evening, and her talk will include a report of the national philanthropy in the Kentucky mountains where the sorority maintains the social service department of the Frontier Nursing service. Mrs. McKinney also will review the international philanthropy which is the continuance of its wartime project of supplementary feeding of the children of St. Nazaire, France.

Serving as co-chairmen of the banquet committee are Mrs. R. L. Norton and Mrs. R. E. Dickman who are assisted by Mrs. B. W. McEntire, Mrs. Kenneth Hammer, Mrs. William Weston, Mrs. M. F. Schewe, Mrs. J. L. McMahon and Mrs. Wayland Magee. The theme of the banquet program will be introduced in the programs, designed in the outline of Nebraska—and in the toasts which will have "Wheat" as their subject. Spring flowers will appoint the tables.

Miss Caroline Jones, president of the active chapter will be toastmistress, and responding will be Miss Caroline Bukacek, whose topic will be "The Seed." Miss Jackie Wightman will talk on "The Sheaf," and Mrs. R. E. Volk, president of the Omaha alumnae chapter will speak on "The Twine." Miss Elsie Ford Piper will present the freshman cup for the highest scholastic honors, and the achievement plaque will be presented to the senior with the most outstanding record, by Miss Jennie Piper.

Saturday is a full day for the active and alumnae members of the sorority. Hostess-ing at the 12 o'clock luncheon at Student Union in honor of all outstate guests will be the members of the Omaha and Lincoln alumnae.

Following the luncheon there Mrs. Val Peterson will honor Mrs. McKinney, at a tea at the governor's mansion between the hours of 3 o'clock and 5 o'clock. In the receiving line with Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. McKinney will be Mrs. R. E. Dickman, Mrs. Robert Ammon, Miss Caroline Jones, and Mrs. R. E. Volk of Omaha.

Assisting in the dining room where the refreshment table will be appointed with spring flowers in pastel tones, will be Mrs. R. E. Gillaspie and Mrs. Donald B. Douglas of Omaha; Mrs. J. E. Latsch, Mrs. George Misko, Mrs. Clair Sloan, Mrs. J. L. McMahon, Miss Elsie Ford Piper and Miss Jennie Piper.

Deadlines And Day-Dreaming —Just Don't Match

THAT THING CALLED A "deadline" is staring us in the face which means that we shall have to stop staring into space and wishing that we were profoundly clever and could have something right snappy to talk about, thus avoiding reference to spring, the weather man, the weather, the grass, the birds, the bees and the trees — So, we've decided not to say anything and get on about the day's business—

• • •

SOMEONE MUST BE READING minds these days — No sooner had we completed the above sentence than we had news of Miss JoAnn Guenzel's bridal party—

For her matron of honor Miss Guenzel has chosen her sister, Mrs. Don Stewart, jr., of Albuquerque, N. Mex., and her maid of honor will be Miss Dorothy Bennison. The foursome of bridesmaids at the wedding of Miss Guenzel and Donald Pegler, jr., will include Miss Sally O'Shea, Mrs. Joseph Marvin, Miss Sarah' Louise Murry of Yuba City, Cal., and Miss Jac-E-Lou Merritt of San Francisco.

Mr. Pegler will have his cousin, Ted O'Shea, as his best man, and the ushers will be Lieut. Don Stewart, Jack Guenzel, Jim Swanson, Joseph Marvin and Fred Sidles, jr.

• • •

GUESTS AND TRAVELERS and this and that are included in the activity about town today—

We heard, for instance, that Colonel Thomas J. Wells is coming from Camp Chaffee, Ark., this week-end to be the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Bunting—

• • •

WE ARE FORCED to bring spring into the conversation long enough to tell about some spring vacationers in town—

Miss Virginia Ralles arrived today from Columbia, Mo., where she is a student at Stephens college, to spend the spring holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Ralles—

AND FROM DULUTH, MINN., where she is attending the Duluth branch of the University of Minnesota, has come Miss Evelyn Court who, during the spring recess, is the guest of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Court—

• • •

THIS EVENING, COMPLIMENTING Dr. and Mrs. Court, their son, Frank, and Miss Evelyn Court, Mr. and Mrs. W. Bruce Shurtleff will be host and hostess at dinner at the University club. Dinner places will be arranged for ten.

• • •

WHEN PROFESSOR AND MRS. H. P. Davis entertain at dinner this evening at the University club their guests will be Dean W. W. Burr, his daughter, Mrs. Ronald Anderson of Madison, Wis., and Dr. and Mrs. Donald Place.

• • •

ALSO ENTERTAINING informally at the University club's Thursday night buffet this evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ammon whose guest foursome will include Mr. and Mrs. Lee Liggett and Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Strough.

• • •

SOMEONE TOLD US THAT Miss Virginia Towle, who is a senior at Denver university, is in town for the university's spring vacation — She is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Towle.

OUR TRAVEL LITERATURE TODAY involves Dr. and Mrs. George Walker—Dr. Walker, we hear, will leave next Tuesday to attend a medical meeting in Denver. At the end of the week he will be joined there by Mrs. Walker and then the travelers will proceed to San Francisco to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Don Horning.

• • •

OFF TO CHICAGO this week-end will go Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hord who plan to be away a week or ten days.

• • •

LATEST NEWS FROM Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Towle is that they now are at Sea Island, Ga., and that they will return to Lincoln in mid-April.

• • •

Transfer Of Genoa Farm Is Supported

By Committee; Would Be N.U. Research Site

The committee on education Wednesday advanced to general file of the legislature LB 209, transferring the Genoa state farm from the board of control to the state university for educational and research programs.

Chancellor R. G. Gustavson said the university now has five experimental farms scattered over the state and five more desired in order to study the problems that face agriculture in various sections of the state. The plan, he said, was suggested to the university by the state bankers association.

He termed the two half section plots ideal for a demonstration farm because of providing terrain similar to most of northeast Nebraska. Experiments are planned, he said, in developing new varieties of crops to meet soil and weather conditions of the area.

Grain Research.

Disease resisting grains would be included in the research and one farm would be used to build foundation stock of the seeds improved by research.

Dean W. V. Lambert said it was planned to have the experiment self-supporting so that farmers could learn the problems and costs they would face in improving poor and eroded soil. Buildings, he said, would be used for storage and rental property would aid in starting.

Livestock production, both dairy and beef cattle, would be included in the operation the dean asserted. He admitted that purely experimental farms do not pay their way, but said purposes at Genoa would be to demonstrate how farmers can make profits.

Speaking for a delegation of about 50 persons from the area were E. L. Burke, Genoa; Fred Peterson, Fullerton; William Keechen, Albion, and C. C. Sheldon, Columbus. All urged transfer to the university and said its past use as a penal farm was highly undesirable to the local population.

Tells Of Profit.

W. H. Diers said the board of control was neutral on whether or not the transfer be made. As a citizen and taxpayer, he said, he was worried about future costs to the state. He explained some of the problems encountered by the board, but said they had operated it at a profit with reformatory inmates.

Supt. George Morris of the men's reformatory said that if it was not given to the university he would be anxious to operate it as one of the necessary steps in preparing men to return to society.

"Our future depends not on agriculture but on people," he said. "The work of improving people is as important as improving seed or livestock."

The readjusting of men after they leave prison walls is greater than the adjustment to meet prison conditions, he said. This he explained was a problem faced by all penologists.

"Work is the answer," Morris declared. "Lack of work habits accounts for the men in the reformatory." He said rehabilitation required a place for semi-freedom for men before release so as to prepare them for the freedom they would soon get. He said a farm for this purpose was necessary and that he preferred one closer to Lincoln.

In answer to questions he said he made a profit of between $1,500 and $2,000 off the farms last year in addition to spending considerable money in repairs that were needed.

Henry Behrens, former member of the board of control, told of state management since it was first given the state when the Indian school was closed. The present condition he said had been brought about by mismanagement and failure to make it a senile home when first obtained.

LB 427 providing for certification of county superintendents also was advanced to general file.

LINCOLN SLUGGER BATTERS A.A.U. HEAVY; LARGE CROWD ATTENDS

By GEORGE MILLER.
(Star Sports Staff Member)

LINCOLN'S wild man, Wiley Ferguson, lived up to his name in the second round of his Wednesday night Fairgrounds Arena battle with Ernie Mason as he clubbed the Washington, D. C., heavyweight into submission before a packed house.

Referee Don Lee halted the storm of lightning that Ferguson rained on Mason to stop the bout with 1:38 gone in the second heat.

Wiley Ferguson

Ferguson flashed surprising speed in following up the slightest advantage as he buffeted his heavier foe into wobbly-kneed and glazed-eye helplessness.

The burly Washington boxer, owning a 30-pound weight advantage at 204 pounds, attempted to use his bulk to good advantage in leaning on his lighter opponent.

But Ferguson ended such tactics with ripping rights and lefts each time the former national AAU heavyweight champ moved close to clinch.

Big Ernie got in one solid smash in the first round to back Ferguson to a safe distance.

By the time the first three-minute round ended Mason was in some trouble. After a minute and 38 seconds of the second round he was in such trouble that Referee Lee, former middleweight campaigner who retired a month ago, halted the bout.

FORTY-NINTH WIN.

The victory pushed Ferguson's comeback winning streak to 23. It was his forty-ninth win in 51 fights.

Referee Jerry Adam had plenty of chance to show his counting ability during the supporting card.

Heavyweight Eugene Brown of Omaha, making his first professional start after winning the midwest Golden Gloves 175-pound title this winter, uncorked a second-round comeback to KO Jim Motley of Alliance.

Motley had all the better of it in the first round, knocking Brown to the canvas three times.

MADE CONNECTIONS

In the second round Brown's one-two timing made connections and sent Motley through the ropes and off the ring apron to the floor beside the ring. He was still there when Referee Adam finished his toll to 10.

The knockout punch came with 1:35 gone in the second round.

A pair of Irishmen had opposite results. Lightweight Paddy O'Leary of Denver slashed Red McNally of Miami, Fla., and Offut Field into dreamland after 1:30 of the first round.

Patrick O'Grady of Omaha took the last count at 1:20 of the second round in his middleweight battle with Leonard Craig of Kansas City.

Whitey Peterson of Omaha impressed fans in doing a workmanlike job of cutting down Bill Hadley of Los Angeles in 25 seconds of the second round in their heavyweight semi-windup match.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—How about Joe DiMaggio?

The doubtful condition of the Yankee clipper is the most disturbing note of the spring training season.

There is no definite assurance that DiMag, hobbled by a tender right heel following an off season operation, will be able to open the American league schedule. In fact, there is no positive word that he will play at all.

Nobody knows. The doctors are optimistic. DiMag wants to believe them. But he knows the heel still sends jabbing pains through his body when he tries to run.

It is feared the spur is growing back on the heel. Then again, what appears to be growth, may be only cartilage.

DiMaggio sets his own training pace. So far he has appeared in exhibitions as a pinch hitter only. If he gets a hit, a runner takes his place. The Yanks are taking no chances with their $90,000-a-year star.

"I'm not going to tell Joe when to play," said Manager Casey Stengel. "He's the only one that really knows the story about his heel. When he wants to play, he'll tell me. I only hope he will be in there opening day."

"I don't thing we'll be very good without him," he added sadly. Casey knows the Yanks can't win without Dimag.

D. Gardella Must Wait

...Reinstatement Plea

NEW YORK—(AP)—It will be at least two weeks before Danny Gardella will get an answer on his plea for baseball reinstatement but an earlier showdown is expected for two other banned former major leaguers, Max Lanier and Fred Martin.

Federal Judge Edward A. Conger said he probably would rule next week on the temporary injunction asked by Lanier and Martin, two ex-St. Louis Cardinal pitchers who are suing baseball for $2,500,000.

The former Cardinal players and Gardella, the onetime New York Giant outfielder who is suing for $300,000, have asked that their playing rights be returned pending settlement of the cases.

Judge Conger reserved decision in the Gardella case Wednesday, declaring he would act after lawyers for both sides had filed their briefs April 6.

Papers in the other suit, brought by Lanier and Martin, are already in the judge's hands, so a quicker verdict may be expected.

The players, among nearly a score who were banished for five years for jumping to the Mexican league in 1946, are suing the game on the grounds that their suspensions have denied them a chance to earn a livelihood.

Hutchinson Hits Semi's

...Junior College Play

HUTCHINSON, Kas. —(AP)— Utah, California and Kansas teams will wind up play Thursday night in the championship quarter-finals of the National Junior College Athletic association basketball tournament.

Weber college, Ogden, Utah, faces Grant Tech of Del Paso Heights, Calif., in one of the semi-finals games and two region Six teams meet in the other — host team Hutchinson, Kas., and Dodge City, Kas.

Weber went into the semi-final round Wednesday by winning from Abraham Baldwin, Tifton, Ga., 70-64.

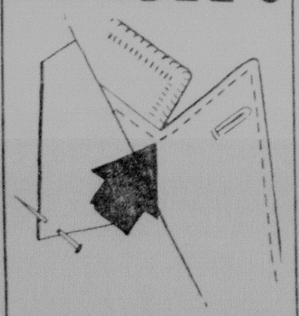

Jim Loscutoff, Grant Tech center, set a tournament record with 32 points as his team blasted Joliet, Ill., 67-47, Wednesday.

In a quarter-final game Wednesday night Compton, Calif., outscored Bremerton, Wash., in a five-minute overtime to win, 62-61.

Tyler, Tex., won over Brainerd, Minn., 78-63, in the other quarter-final game Wednesday night.

Webster City, Ia., edged Benton Harbor, Mich., 55-51, to open the consolation bracket and Bayonne, N. J., decided to pass up the consolation competition, withdrawing from the tournament.

Alpha Brazle and Ted Wilks, two of the Cardinal regulars, held Detroit to six singles. Rookie Saul Rogovin pitched the first five innings for Detroit and the one run he allowed, unearned in the fourth, made him the losing pitcher.

Lefty Mel Parnell went the last four innings for the Boston American leaguers and gave up only one hit.

Mel, however, issued two consecutive walks in the sixth. The Reds tied the two free passages with a pair of infield outs and a hit to right by Grady Hatton for two runs.

Pass Drill Shows NU Still Weak

Huskers Unimpressive In Overhead Department

THAT OLD, old worry for University of Nebraska football players — pass defense — cropped up for the first time Wednesday in the Huskers' spring practice sessions.

Coach Bill Glassford opened his attempt to reform the Scarlet overhead weakness with a pass defense and passer protection drill. And when it was over his comment was the same as Husker followers have heard for several seasons.

"We look weak," the new head man declared.

BRIGHT SPOT.

There was one bright spot in the showing of the Husker spring squad. Downfield blocking assignments were carried out with some degree of perfection.

At least Glassford was able to remark that players seemed to have the technique well in mind. Husker blockers get constant urging to keep moving down the field when a ball carrier is loose behind them.

SAME ROUTINE.

The routine of Wednesday's drills followed that of most other outdoor sessions. Two offensive squads worked against one defensive group.

Outdoor drills have 21 days to go before the allowed six weeks of spring work ends. Glassford's view of the time elapsed and the time to go — "We have a long, long way to go."

Preifert Loses 8 Cagers

Maly Only CV Regular Back; Good Prospects

By BOB BERKSHIRE.
(Star Sports Staff Member)

WHEN Emory Priefert goes about the task of putting together a College View cage team next season, he will be faced with the problem of replacing four regulars and four other lettermen who have used up their competition.

Regulars Dick Barnes, Earl Elliot, Bob Forney and Verlan Rumbaugh have played their last basketball game for College View. Only dependable Billy Maly remains from the combination that lost to Waverly in the finals of the Class C district tourney.

The Viewmen's 44-25 defeat to Waverly is not too disgraceful; for Waverly went on to win the state Class C tourney without so much as being pressed by any of the states' best Class C quintets.

THREE LOSSES.

Emery Priefert's boys finished the season with a 16 win-3-loss records. Two of the defeats were to Waverly and the other was to Wahoo in first round play in the Eastern Nebraska Six tourney.

The Viewmen were undefeated in Eastern Nebraska Six loop play, easily annexing that league title.

Waverly defeated the Viewmen, 50-34, in regular season play. The Viewmen were edged by Wahoo by a 33-31 count. College View rolled to ten straight victories before losing to Wahoo.

The four other men on the College View squad who are seniors are Norm Vermaas, the sixth man on the team, Lloyd Priess, Don Smith and Eugene Smith.

Besides Maly none of the other three lettermen saw much service this season. Bud Wilcox who was Maly's first replacement played rather irregularly and was handicapped by injuries. Jim Stewart and Durward Van Cleave saw even less action with the varsity.

PROMISING SOPH.

However Van Cleave who is a sophomore showed promise and should develop into a standout cage performer.

Coach Priefert will have trouble finding a cager capable of scoring as many points as Dick Barnes did this year. The hustling forward scored 216 points to lead Viewmen attack. Barnes' total accounted for nearly a third of all College View points scored.

Bob Forney was second in College View point scoring 152 points. The rangy CV center nipped Bill Maly who wound up with 150 points.

Coach Priefert will have to draw heavily from Tom Gillaspie's reserve team. Gillaspie's boys turned in many crowd pleasing performances during the season and wound up with eight wins in 15 contests.

Standouts on the reserve club were Juniors Lee Huenk and Bill Fisher and Sophomores Gary Lyon, Bobby Leslie, Paul Wendell, Bill Story and Tom Weatherford.

Preifert also said that two ninth graders, Clyde Cook and Lyman Hull also showed promise and may make the varsity next season.

Varsity-Frosh Track Meet For Huskers

Coach Ed Weir's University of Nebraska trackmen, champion of the Big Seven, will have a dual track meet on their indoor oval under the East stadium, 7:00 Thursday night.

Their competition will be Pop Klein's freshmen cindermen. The freshmen will be getting their first taste of college competition and according to Mentor Klein are primed to "really pin back the ears of the varsity tracksters."

Many of the varsity men have been taking advantage of the layoff between the end of the indoor season and the start of the outdoor dual activity to rest up from the strenuous season.

The freshmen will be fresh from an intersquad meet held two weeks ago and a potential meet with Iowa State's frosh lost week.

Top freshmen candidates who will bid for points are Lee Moore, miler; Lee Alexander, 60-yard dash; Bill Baker and Jim Perry, quarter-mile; Don Bedker and Wendy Cole, hurdlers, and Dick Meissner and Ted Mead, high jump.

Louis Picks Chicago

...Charles-Walcott Bout

CHICAGO—(AP) — Joe Louis, in his new role as boxing promoter, has picked Chicago for the Ezzard Charles-Jersey Joe Walcott heavyweight scrap for the Brown Bomber's vacated title.

It was in Chicago's Comiskey Park that Louis lifted the heavyweight crown from Jim Braddock in 1937 and it may be in the same ball park next June that the proposed 15-round match between Charles and Walcott takes place. The date might be June 22, the night Louis won the championship in the White Sox park nearly 12 years ago. The date and site will be announced later.

The Charles-Walcott bout would be for the National Boxing association's version of the heavyweight championship. New York, one of the two states not a member of the NBA, has suggested an "elimination" tournament for Louis' title and will not recognize the Charles-Walcott winner as champion.

FIGHT fans who like their action rugged and decisive were pleased with the fairgrounds' melee that produced five knockouts Wednesday night . . . The full house (who said boxing wouldn't draw in Lincoln?) had nothing but kind words for a home-town boy, 174-pound Wiley Ferguson . . . In knocking out Ernie Mason, 204-pound Washington, D. C., battler, Ferguson showed all the earmarks of a comer . . . He's a savage, two-fisted puncher, who is of the Ace Hudkins school, in that he knows no mercy or no quitting . . . Wiley now finds himself in demand for an Omaha main event, a Denver special event and another Lincoln match . . . Let's hope Adam Krieger can arrange another fairgrounds card, with stronger preliminary bouts and Ferguson again the headliner . . . It looks like boxing, at long last, has returned to Lincoln.

Communism Is A Way Of Life, Anderson Says

More Than Simply A Political Party

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the first in a series of five articles on communism and what it means to America. They are based on a series of public lectures being given on the campus by University of Nebraska faculty members. The lectures seek to define what we mean by communism, and why communism is completely alien to America's democratic way of life. Today's article is on the historical and ideological basis of communism. The next article will appear March 29).

Dr. Albin T. Anderson, assistant history professor at the University of Nebraska, told the first-night audience Wednesday that "Americans are mistaken if they believe that communism is simply a political party."

First speaker in the current public lecture series on the campus, Dr. Anderson discussed the general subject of communism and what it means to America.

"If we are to understand communism we must think of it as something more than a political doctrine," Dr. Anderson said: "It is, in fact, a theory of history, a way of life, and a faith."

Tracing the historical development of communism, Dr. Anderson said it is the product of the thinking and writing of two men, Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels. These men founded what they called "scientific socialism." In modern times Lenin, the Russian revolutionist, became not only Marxism's most active propagandist but also the first Marxist to achieve political power in a state.

Three Basic Ideas.

There are three basic ideas which communists believe, and which all American should understand if we are to successfully oppose it, according to Dr. Anderson.

(1) "Communism can be characterized as a theory of history. Communists believe that each major epoch of human history is never static. Each epoch carries within its womb a struggle, a struggle between that which is, and which is to be. Basically, the struggle is that of classes.

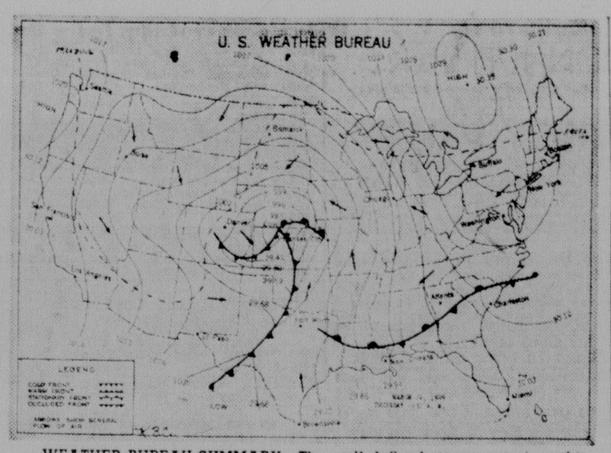

"These classes in turn are arrayed against each other in terms of their relationship to the means of production. In a capitalist society it is that of the owners of the means of production against the propertyless. The latter, insist the Marxists, must eventually triumph. They will outweigh, outvote, or simply overthrow the smaller class. Society will then be constituted along new lines, that of collective ownership.

"This latter phase will be the final form. Since all own the means of production there will be no struggle, hence no classes. Since there will be only one class the dialectic of necessity must come to rest. According to Marxists, therefore, the socialist society is the end product of historical evolution.

Materialistic.

(2) "Communism is also materialistic. Ideas are important but they are simply reflections of the material status of a socity. All life, all thought, all culture is rooted in the material. There is nothing mystical, nothing metaphysical, nothing religious. All religion, says the Marxist, is a great hoax. They insist it was connected by the ruling classes to keep in subjection the suppressed classes. By promising the underprivileged a better life in the hereafter it gave the ruling class an excuse for exploiting them in the present.

(3) "Marxists would insist further that the State, in the accepted sense of the world, is simply an organ of class domination. It was a creation of the few to hold the many in subjection. By its possession of the instruments of force, such as law, police and the military, it served the interests of the privileged few in their possession of private property. It was quite inconceivable that they would give up this advantage voluntarily. That is why the State would probably have to be overthrown by force. Subsequent to this there would be a temporary dictatorship of the proletariat, followed by a gradual withering away of the state. No such instrument of force would be needed in a classless society."

WEATHER BUREAU SUMMARY—The well defined storm central on this map near Grand Island, Nebraska, moved eastward since Wednesday morning from the middle Rockies, attended by light to moderate rain and snow in the Dakotas and Nebraska, and snow in Wyoming and northern Colorado. Heavy precipitation of over an inch was recorded locally in central Wyoming and .87 inch at Sidney, Nebraska. The snowfall was 15 inches at Lander and 5 inches at Cheyenne, Wyoming. Some further rainfall occurred around and at Los Angeles, California, and in western Oregon, with amounts mostly light to moderate. New England received light to moderate rains. Temperatures fell to near 30 in the Nebraska panhandle and to the upper 20s in most parts of Wyoming, Montana, and the extreme western portions of the Dakotas. Mild weather prevailed in the central plains states Wednesday with temperatures in the 60s and 70s in Kansas.

Brehm appeared in support of a bill requiring the government to make in "lieu of tax" payments to counties on federal property located in counties.

The commissioner's claim, as audited and allowed, listed travel (by air) $127.10; hotel $35, and meals $20.

Curiosity Sends Lincoln Girl On Jaunt To Arabia

Curiosity and a desire to see the world has led Miss Cecelia V. Murphy, 2050 Worthington street, to seek a new career in Saudi, Arabia.

The 33-year-old stenographer, who has accepted a position with the Arabian-American oil company at Dhrahan, left Lincoln by plane late Wednesday afternoon for New York City. There she will board a chartered Pan-American Airways plane on Friday on the last leg of her 5,000 mile trip.

Miss Murphy, a native of Nebraska, arrived in Lincoln last week from California where she had been employed for five years. She has never traveled any farther east than Iowa nor has she been outside the continental limits of the United States.

She will arrive in Arabia at the beginning of the summer season which continues through October.

Pair Rob Hotel Concession Of $8 In Nickels

Two unidentified young men got away with $8 in nickels from a shoeshine machine in the Lincoln hotel Friday morning. Caught tampering with the machine, they broke away from a hotel porter and made off with the loot.

Ed Weber, assistant hotel manager told police the porter entered the rest room to discover that the two men had succeeded in removing the coin box. After a short scuffle, the pair broke loose and ran out of the hotel down P street toward the Burlington depot.

The two were described as fairly young and dark complexioned.

No City Vote For Residents Huskerville

...City Attorney Rules

Residents of Huskerville will not be allowed to vote on city issues and city officials in the April 5 election, Ray Frohn, county election commissioner, stated Thursday afternoon.

The commissioner's statement today followed an opinion handed him by City Attorney John Jacobson. He ruled that Huskerville was not a part of the city of Lincoln, thus its residents were not eligible to vote.

However, residents in the mushrooming housing project will be able to vote on school board candidates since District No. 1 includes that area.

Adventist Speaker Says:

Failure To Know Basic Principles Confuses Youth About Religion

Misunderstanding of the basic principles of good religion has brought confusion into the lives of modern youth, George E. Vaneman, Washington D. C., said Thursday.

Speaking at the morning session of the Seventh-day Adventist church youth leaders conference at the Lincoln hotel, Vandeman declared that true religion "is based upon faith and fact."

So-called "waves of religion" among youth which depend upon "feeling" alone are disappointing and spiritually disastrous," he added.

"The controlling principle in every life is the will," he said. "We must help youth to set the will on the right course of action, and if this is done the feeling will be brought into harmony."

The group also discussed workshop methods in instruction of youth by means of the motion picture, visual aids, radio broadcasts, and the press. Films were shown and experience data exchanged.

Plans were made for the youth of the church to celebrate in their societies April 30 the denomination's 100th anniversary in its publishing work.

Lora Clement, editor of the Youth's Instructor, addressed the conferees concerning world-wide plans for circulation of the periodical reported at approximately 50,000 copies each week.

Mass Meetings Planned.

Dr. Frank H. Yost, Washington, D. C., will be the Thursday evening speaker at the council meeting in the Lincoln hotel at 7:45 o'clock.

Council leaders completed plans for services to be held Friday night and Saturday at Union college and in College View, to which the public is invited.

Arthur H. Roth, Miami, Fla., will speak on "Overseas Frontiers Call Adventist Youth," Friday, 7:45 p. m., at Union college.

Two services will be held Saturday morning at the College View Seventh-day Adventist church. E. W. Dunbar, world youth leader for the denomination, will be principal speaker for the services at 8:50 and 11:30 a. m. His addresses will be on the world extent of the Adventist youth movement.

Saturday afternoon at a youth rally in the Union college gymnasium, a special musical program by the college's music department and other features will be presented.

Ferguson TKO's Mason

LINCOLN SLUGGER BATTERS A.A.U. HEAVY; LARGE CROWD ATTENDS

By GEORGE MILLER.
(Star Sports Staff Member)

LINCOLN'S wild man, Wiley Ferguson, lived up to his name in the second round of his Wednesday night Fairgrounds Arena battle with Ernie Mason as he clubbed the Washington, D. C., heavyweight into submission before a packed house.

Referee Don Lee halted the storm of lightning that Ferguson rained on Mason to stop the bout with 1:38 gone in the second heat.

Wiley Ferguson

Ferguson flashed surprising speed in following up the slightest advantage as he buffeted his heavier foe into wobbly-kneed and glazed-eye helplessness.

The burly Washington boxer, owning a 30-pound weight advantage at 204 pounds, attempted to use his bulk to good advantage in leaning on his lighter opponent.

But Ferguson ended such tactics with ripping rights and lefts each time the former national AAU heavyweight champ moved close to clinch.

Big Ernie got in one solid smash in the first round to back Ferguson to a safe distance.

By the time the first three-minute round ended Mason was in some trouble. After a minute and 38 seconds of the second round he was in such trouble that Referee Lee, former middleweight campaigner who retired a month ago, halted the bout.

FORTY-NINTH WIN.

The victory pushed Ferguson's comeback winning streak to 23. It was his forty-ninth win in 51 fights.

Referee Jerry Adam had plenty of chance to show his counting ability during the supporting card.

Heavyweight Eugene Brown of Omaha, making his first professional start after winning the midwest Golden Gloves 175-pound title this winter, uncorked a second-round comeback to KO Jim Motley of Alliance.

Motley had all the better of it in the first round, knocking Brown to the canvas three times.

MADE CONNECTIONS

In the second round Brown's one-two timing made connections and sent Motley through the ropes and off the ring apron to the floor beside the ring. He was still there when Referee Adam finished his toll to 10.

The knockout punch came with 1:35 gone in the second round.

A pair of Irishmen had opposite results. Lightweight Paddy O'Leary of Denver slashed Red McNally of Miami, Fla., and Offut Field into dreamland after 1:30 of the first round.

Patrick O'Grady of Omaha took the last count at 1:20 of the second round in his middleweight battle with Leonard Craig of Kansas City.

Whitey Peterson of Omaha impressed fans in doing a workmanlike job of cutting down Bill Hadley of Los Angeles in 25 seconds of the second round in their heavyweight semi-windup match.

DiMag Still Bothered By Injury

...Doctors Optimistic

By JACK HAND.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—How about Joe DiMaggio?

The doubtful condition of the Yankee clipper is the most disturbing note of the spring training season.

There is no definite assurance that DiMag, hobbled by a tender right heel following an off season operation, will be able to open the American league schedule. In fact, there is no positive word that he will play at all.

Nobody knows. The doctors are optimistic. DiMag wants to believe them. But he knows the heel still sends jabbing pains through his body when he tries to run.

It is feared the spur is growing back on the heel. Then again, what appears to be growth, may be only cartilage.

DiMaggio sets his own training pace. So far he has appeared in exhibitions as a pinch hitter only. If he gets a hit, a runner takes his place. The Yanks are taking no chances with their $90,000-a-year star.

"I'm not going to tell Joe when to play," said Manager Casey Stengel. "He's the only one that really knows the story about his heel. When he wants to play, he'll tell me. I only hope he will be in there opening day."

"I don't think we'll be very good without him," he added sadly. Casey knows the Yanks can't win without Dimag.

D. Gardella Must Wait

...Reinstatement Plea

NEW YORK—(AP)—It will be at least two weeks before Danny Gardella will get an answer on his plea for baseball reinstatement but an earlier showdown is expected for two other banned former major leaguers, Max Lanier and Fred Martin.

Federal Judge Edward A. Conger said he probably would rule next week on the temporary injunction asked by Lanier and Martin, two ex-St. Louis Cardinal pitchers who are suing baseball for $2,500,000.

The former Cardinal players and Gardella, the onetime New York Giant outfielder who is suing for $300,000, have asked that their playing rights be returned pending settlement of the cases.

Judge Conger reserved decision in the Gardella case Wednesday, declaring he would act after lawyers for both sides had filed their briefs April 6.

Papers in the other suit, brought by Lanier and Martin, are already in the judge's hands, so a quicker verdict may be expected.

The players, among nearly a score who were banished for five years for jumping to the Mexican league in 1946, are suing the game on the grounds that their suspensions have denied them a chance to earn a livelihood.

Hutchinson Hits Semi's

...Junior College Play

HUTCHINSON, Kas. —(AP)— Utah, California and Kansas teams will wind up play Thursday night in the championship quarter-finals of the National Junior College Athletic association basketball tournament.

Weber college, Ogden, Utah, faces Grant Tech of Del Paso Heights, Calif., in one of the semi-finals games and two region Six teams meet in the other — host team Hutchinson, Kas., and Dodge City, Kas.

Weber went into the semi-final round Wednesday by winning from Abraham Baldwin, Tifton, Ga., 70-64.

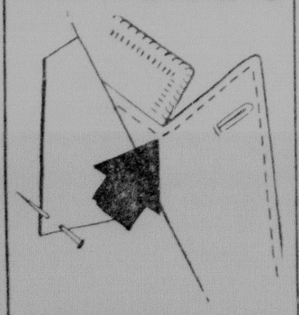

Jim Loscutoff, Grant Tech center, set a tournament record with 32 points as his team blasted Joliet, Ill., 67-47, Wednesday.

In a quarter-final game Wednesday night Compton, Calif., outscored Bremerton, Wash., in a five-minute overtime to win, 62-61.

Tyler, Tex., won over Brainerd, Minn., 78-63, in the other quarter-final game Wednesday night.

Webster City, Ia., edged Benton Harbor, Mich., 55-51, to open the consolation bracket and Bayonne, N. J., decided to pass up the consolation competition, withdrawing from the tournament.

LAKELAND, Fla.—(AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals turned in a 6-0 decision over the Detroit Tigers Wednesday for the Detroiters' second consecutive shutout. They bowed to the New York Yankees 1 to 0 in 11 innings Tuesday.

Alpha Brazle and Ted Wilks, two of the Cardinal regulars, held Detroit to six singles. Rookie Saul Rogovin pitched the first five innings for Detroit and the one run he allowed, unearned in the fourth, made him the losing pitcher.

Lefty Mel Parnell went the last four innings for the Boston American leaguers and gave up only one hit.

Mel, however, issued two consecutive walks in the sixth. The Reds tied the two free passages with a pair of infield outs and a hit to right by Grady Hatton for two runs.

Pass Drill Shows NU Still Weak

Huskers Unimpressive In Overhead Department

THAT OLD, old worry for University of Nebraska football players — pass defense — cropped up for the first time Wednesday in the Huskers' spring practice sessions.

Coach Bill Glassford opened his attempt to reform the Scarlet overhead weakness with a pass defense and passer protection drill. And when it was over his comment was the same as Husker followers have heard for several seasons.

"We look weak," the new head man declared.

BRIGHT SPOT.

There was one bright spot in the showing of the Husker spring squad. Downfield blocking assignments were carried out with some degree of perfection.

At least Glassford was able to remark that players seemed to have the technique well in mind. Husker blockers get constant urging to keep moving down the field when a ball carrier is loose behind them.

SAME ROUTINE.

The routine of Wednesday's drills followed that of most other outdoor sessions. Two offensive squads worked against one defensive group.

Outdoor drills have 21 days to go before the allowed six weeks of spring work ends. Glassford's view of the time elapsed and the time to go — "We have a long, long way to go."

NEW YORK — (AP) — Don McNeill, who plays tennis merely for fun and exercise, moved impressively closer Wednesday to the National Indoor singles title he held 11 years ago.

The former champion, now a New York advertising man, vanquished Irvin Dorfman, former Yale university star, 8-6, 6-3, 6-2, to enter the semi-finals of the annual tournament at the Seventh Regiment armory.

Preifert Loses 8 Cagers

Maly Only CV Regular Back; Good Prospects

By BOB BERKSHIRE.
(Star Sports Staff Member)

WHEN Emory Priefert goes about the task of putting together a College View cage team next season, he will be faced with the problem of replacing four regulars and four other lettermen who have used up their competition.

Regulars Dick Barnes, Earl Elliot, Bob Forney and Verlan Rumbaugh have played their last basketball game for College View. Only dependable Billy Maly remains from the combination that lost to Waverly in the finals of the Class C district tourney.

The Viewmen's 44-25 defeat to Waverly is not too disgraceful; for Waverly went on to win the state Class C tourney without so much as being pressed by any of the states' best Class C quintets.

THREE LOSSES.

Emery Priefert's boys finished the season with a 16 win-3-loss records. Two of the defeats were to Waverly and the other was to Wahoo in first round play in the Eastern Nebraska Six tourney.

The Viewmen were undefeated in Eastern Nebraska Six loop play, easily annexing that league title.

Waverly defeated the Viewmen, 50-34, in regular season play. The Viewmen were edged by Wahoo by a 33-31 count. College View rolled to ten straight victories before losing to Wahoo.

The four other men on the College View squad who are seniors are Norm Vermaas, the sixth man on the team, Lloyd Priess, Don Smith and Eugene Smith.

Besides Maly none of the other three lettermen saw much service this season. Bud Wilcox who was Maly's first replacement played rather irregularly and was handicapped by injuries. Jim Stewart and Durward Van Cleave saw even less action with the varsity.

PROMISING SOPH.

However Van Cleave who is a sophomore showed promise and should develop into a standout cage performer.

Coach Priefert will have trouble finding a cager capable of scoring as many points as Dick Barnes did this year. The hustling forward scored 216 points to lead Viewmen attack. Barnes' total accounted for nearly a third of all College View points scored.

Bob Forney was second in College View point scoring 152 points. The rangy CV center nipped Bill Maly who wound up with 150 points.

Coach Priefert will have to draw heavily from Tom Gillaspie's reserve team. Gillaspie's boys turned in many crowd pleasing performances during the season and wound up with eight wins in 15 contests.

Standouts on the reserve club were Juniors Lee Huenk and Bill Fisher and Sophomores Gary Lyon, Bobby Leslie, Paul Wendell, Bill Story and Tom Weatherford.

Preifert also said that two ninth graders, Clyde Cook and Lyman Hull also showed promise and may make the varsity next season.

Varsity-Frosh Track Meet For Huskers

Coach Ed Weir's University of Nebraska trackmen, champion of the Big Seven, will have a dual track meet on their indoor oval under the East stadium, 7:00 Thursday night.

Many of the varsity men have been taking advantage of the layoff between the end of the indoor season and the start of the outdoor dual activity to rest up from the strenuous season.

The freshmen will be fresh from an intersquad meet held two weeks ago and a potential meet with Iowa State's frosh lost week.

Louis Picks Chicago

...Charles-Walcott Bout

CHICAGO—(AP) — Joe Louis, in his new role as boxing promoter, has picked Chicago for the Ezzard Charles-Jersey Joe Walcott heavyweight scrap for the Brown Bomber's vacated title.

It was in Chicago's Comiskey Park that Louis lifted the heavyweight crown from Jim Braddock in 1937 and it may be in the same ball park next June that the proposed 15-round match between Charles and Walcott takes place. The date might be June 22, the night Louis won the championship in the White Sox park nearly 12 years ago. The date and site will be announced later.

The Charles-Walcott bout would be for the National Boxing association's version of the heavyweight championship. New York, one of the two states not a member of the NBA, has suggested an "elimination" tournament for Louis' title and will not recognize the Charles-Walcott winner as champion.

Communism Is A Way Of Life, Anderson Says

More Than Simply A Political Party

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the first in a series of five articles on communism and what it means to America. They are based on a series of public lectures being given on the campus by University of Nebraska faculty members. The lectures seek to define what we mean by communism, and why communism is completely alien to America's democratic way of life. Today's article is on the historical and ideological basis of communism. The next article will appear March 29).

Dr. Albin T. Anderson, assistant history professor at the University of Nebraska, told the first-night audience Wednesday that "Americans are mistaken if they believe that communism is simply a political party."

First speaker in the current public lecture series on the campus, Dr. Anderson discussed the general subject of communism and what it means to America.

"If we are to understand communism we must think of it as something more than a political doctrine," Dr. Anderson said: "It is, in fact, a theory of history, a way of life, and a faith."

Tracing the historical development of communism, Dr. Anderson said it is the product of the thinking and writing of two men, Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels. These men founded what they called "scientific socialism." In modern times Lenin, the Russian revolutionist, became not only Marxism's most active propagandist but also the first Marxist to achieve political power in a state.

Three Basic Ideas.

There are three basic ideas which communists believe, and which all American should understand if we are to successfully oppose it, according to Dr. Anderson.

(1) "Communism can be characterized as a theory of history. Communists believe that each major epoch of human history is never static. Each epoch carries within its womb a struggle, a struggle between that which is, and which is to be. Basically, the struggle is that of classes.

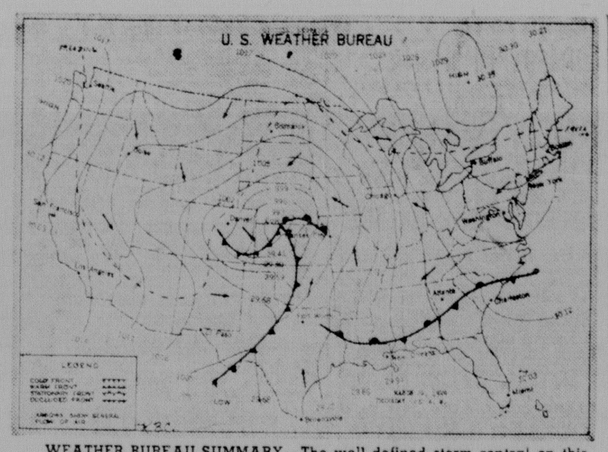

"These classes in turn are arrayed against each other in terms of their relationship to the means of production. In a capitalist society it is that of the owners of the means of production against the propertyless. The latter, insist the Marxists, must eventually triumph. They will outweigh, outvote, or simply overthrow the smaller class. Society will then be constituted along new lines, that of collective ownership.

"This latter phase will be the final form. Since all own the means of production there will be no struggle, hence no classes. Since there will be only one class the dialectic of necessity must come to rest. According to Marxists, therefore, the socialist society is the end product of historical evolution.

Materialistic.

(2) "Communism is also materialistic. Ideas are important but they are simply reflections of the material status of a society. All life, all thought, all culture is rooted in the material. There is nothing mystical, nothing metaphysical, nothing religious. All religion, says the Marxist, is a great hoax. They insist it was connected by the ruling classes to keep in subjection the suppressed classes. By promising the underprivileged a better life in the hereafter it gave the ruling class an excuse for exploiting them in the present.

(3) "Marxists would insist further that the State, in the accepted sense of the world, is simply an organ of class domination. It was a creation of the few to hold the many in subjection. By its possession of the instruments of force, such as law, police and the military, it served the interests of the privileged few in their possession of private property. It was quite inconceivable that they would give up this advantage voluntarily. That is why the State would probably have to be overthrown by force. Subsequent to this there would be a temporary dictatorship of the proletariat, followed by a gradual withering away of the state. No such instrument of force would be needed in a classless society."

WEATHER BUREAU SUMMARY—The well defined storm central on this map near Grand Island, Nebraska, moved eastward since Wednesday morning from the middle Rockies, attended by light to moderate rain and snow in the Dakotas and Nebraska, and snow in Wyoming and northern Colorado. Heavy precipitation of over an inch was recorded locally in central Wyoming and .87 inch at Sidney, Nebraska. The snowfall was 15 inches at Lander and 5 inches at Cheyenne, Wyoming. Some further rainfall occurred around and at Los Angeles, California, and in western Oregon, with amounts mostly light to moderate. New England received light to moderate rains. Temperatures fell to near 30 in the Nebraska panhandle and to the upper 20s in most parts of Wyoming, Montana, and the extreme western portions of the Dakotas. Mild weather prevailed in the central plains states Wednesday with temperatures in the 60s and 70s in Kansas.

According to records in the county clerk's office, Brehm's expense claim was approved by Commissioners Chris Kuhner and Ira Vorhies.

Brehm appeared in support of a bill requiring the government to make in "lieu of tax" payments to counties on federal property located in counties.

The commissioner's claim, as audited and allowed, listed travel (by air) $127.10; hotel $35, and meals $20.

No City Vote For Residents Huskerville

...City Attorney Rules

Residents of Huskerville will not be allowed to vote on city issues and city officials in the April 5 election, Ray Frohn, county election commissioner, stated Thursday afternoon.

The commissioner's statement today followed an opinion handed him by City Attorney John Jacobson. He ruled that Huskerville was not a part of the city of Lincoln, thus its residents were not eligible to vote.

However, residents in the mushrooming housing project will be able to vote on school board candidates since District No. 1 includes that area.

Curiosity Sends Lincoln Girl On Jaunt To Arabia

Curiosity and a desire to see the world has led Miss Cecelia V. Murphy, 2050 Worthington street, to seek a new career in Saudi, Arabia.

The 33-year-old stenographer, who has accepted a position with the Arabian-American oil company at Dhrahan, left Lincoln by plane late Wednesday afternoon for New York City. There she will board a chartered Pan-American Airways plane on Friday on the last leg of her 5,000 mile trip.

Miss Murphy, a native of Nebraska, arrived in Lincoln last week from California where she had been employed for five years. She has never traveled any farther east than Iowa nor has she been outside the continental limits of the United States.

She will arrive in Arabia at the beginning of the summer season which continues through October.

Pair Rob Hotel Concession Of $8 In Nickels

Two unidentified young men got away with $8 in nickels from a shoeshine machine in the Lincoln hotel Friday morning. Caught tampering with the machine, they broke away from a hotel porter and made off with the loot.

Ed Weber, assistant hotel manager told police the porter entered the rest room to discover that the two men had succeeded in removing the coin box. After a short scuffle, the pair broke loose and ran out of the hotel down P street toward the Burlington depot.

The two were described as fairly young and dark complexioned.

Adventist Speaker Says:

Failure To Know Basic Principles Confuses Youth About Religion

Misunderstanding of the basic principles of good religion has brought confusion into the lives of modern youth, George E. Vaneman, Washington D. C., said Thursday.

Speaking at the morning session of the Seventh-day Adventist church youth leaders conference at the Lincoln hotel, Vandeman declared that true religion "is based upon faith and fact."

So-called "waves of religion" among youth which depend upon "feeling" alone are disappointing and spiritually disastrous," he added.

"The controlling principle in every life is the will," he said. "We must help youth to set the will on the right course of action, and if this is done the feeling will be brought into harmony."

The group also discussed workshop methods in instruction of youth by means of the motion picture, visual aids, radio broadcasts, and the press. Films were shown and experience data exchanged.

Plans were made for the youth of the church to celebrate in their societies April 30 the denomination's 100th anniversary in its publishing work.

Lora Clement, editor of the Youth's Instructor, addressed the conferees concerning world-wide plans for circulation of the periodical reported at approximately 50,000 copies each week.

Mass Meetings Planned.

Dr. Frank H. Yost, Washington, D. C., will be the Thursday evening speaker at the council meeting in the Lincoln hotel at 7:45 o'clock.

Council leaders completed plans for services to be held Friday night and Saturday at Union college and in College View, to which the public is invited.

Arthur H. Roth, Miami, Fla., will speak on "Overseas Frontiers Call Adventist Youth," Friday, 7:45 p. m., at Union college.

Two services will be held Saturday morning at the College View Seventh-day Adventist church. E. W. Dunbar, world youth leader for the denomination, will be principal speaker for the services at 8:50 and 11:30 a. m. His addresses will be on the world extent of the Adventist youth movement.

Saturday afternoon at a youth rally in the Union college gymnasium, a special musical program by the college's music department and other features will be presented.

Anti-Picketing Legislation O. K'd By Labor Committee

... Bill Changing Industrial Court Killed

Livestock raisers and industrial management joined forces against labor Wednesday at a hearing by the legislative government committee, where a bill seeking to prohibit mass picketing by strikers was advanced to general file by a vote of five to two.

With most of the argument on the merit and the need for the bill, LB 415, the debate centered around charges and countercharges concerning last spring's packing-house strike in Omaha. Both sides used the strike in an attempt to prove their point of view.

Yale Holland, Omaha attorney representing the four large packing houses there, carried the ball for the proponents of the bill, and presented to the committee many pictures taken at the Omaha strike. He contended that the violence at the strike was caused primarily by the large numbers of strikers gathered around the entrances of the plants.

Allows Two Pickets.

Stating that the purpose of pickets was supposedly to advertise the fact that the plant concerned was strike-bound, Holland maintained that the number of pickets allowed by LB 415 would be adequate for that purpose and that any more pickets would be for the purpose "of barring both persons and vehicles from the plant."

LB 415 provides that no more than two pickets may be within either fifty feet of any entrance to the struck plant or of any other pickets at any one time. Pickets are also barred by the bill from being an obstacle to free ingress or egress to and from the struck plant.

David Weinberg, Omaha, attorney for the Nebraska State Federation of Labor, argued that the bill was unnecessary, undesirable and unfeasible. He said there are adequate laws in the state now to outlaw any picket line violence and that management always has the right to go to courts and enjoin property damage arising from a strike.

Destroy Free Assemblage?

"The proponents of this bill are attempting to prevent peaceable picketing," Weinberg stated. "This bill is an attempt to destroy free speech and free assemblage.

"This legislation was concocted in the iniquity of the Nebraska Small Business Men's association, whose lofty purpose is well known to Labor," Weinberg stated. "Their 'lofty' motives are not lofty; their motive is to destroy free labor unions."

H. L. Van Amburgh, vice-president of the Union Stockyards company, Omaha, appeared in favor of the bill, and read a letter he said was written by W. A. Johnson, Alliance, secretary-treasurer of the Nebraska Stock Growers association, urging passage of the bill.

Describing the bill as not an anti-labor bill, Van Amburgh said, "The farmer took his loss right along with the strikers and the people who wanted to work," in referring to the packing house strike.

Many Appear.

"I am in sympathy with these union members," Van Amburgh said, "but I am more in sympathy with the producers of livestock in Nebraska."

Gordon Preble, president of the Nebraska State Federation of Labor, did not deny that there was violence at the Omaha strike, but maintained that the proposed measure would not cure the situation in future strikes.

Others appearing in favor of the bill included David W. Swarr, Omaha attorney for the Nebraska Small Business Men's association; Jack Clark, Omaha; Melvin Todd, Union; Lloyd Skinner, Omaha; J. S. Steele, Kimball; David Gilchrist, Lincoln, and L. O. Schneiderwind, Omaha, president of the Nebraska Small Business Men's association.

(Shortly after testifying before the committee, Schneiderwind became ill and was taken to Bryan Memorial hospital, where he died Wednesday night.)

Others opposing the bill were John Lawler, attorney for the Omaha Central Labor Union; David W. Chadwell, secretary of the Omaha Building and Construction Trades Council; H. O. Bonsack, Grand Island; H. E. Jensen, Fremont; Frank Cronin, regional director of the CIO, and Kenneth P. Lewis, secretary of the Lincoln Central Labor union.

In an executive meeting, the committee killed LB 513, a proposal to change the court of industrial relations to the industrial relations commission and to permit it to provide its own rules for procedure.

L. O. Schneiderwind, Omaha, Stricken At Legislative Hearing

L. O. Schneiderwind, 56, president of the Nebraska Small Businessmen's association, died in a local hospital Wednesday evening.

Schneiderwind, who was also president of the Omaha Welding company, had entered the hospital after becoming ill while attending a legislative committee hearing on a mass picketing bill yesterday.

His illness was diagnosed as a heart condition.

Funeral services will be held Saturday. Mr. Schneiderwind is survived by his wife, Mercy, a son, W. O. Schneiderwind, and a daughter, Mrs. W. J. Dillman, all of Omaha.

Schneiderwind was born in Omaha, June 6, 1893.
